Gail (left), Marilyn and Linda Parker, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, 624 Michigan Street, headed for the nearest shower when the thermometer shot up to a record-breaking 82 yesterday. That the nearest shower happened to be the ornate fountain in the centre of the grounds fronting the Parliament Buildings mattered not at all. Unabashed by the approach of the Victoria Daily Times cameraman, girls said the water was "Yummy." Temperature prediction for tomorrow—80.

IRAN BACKING DOWN ON SABOTAGE LAWS

Offers To Kill Menacing Measure If Britain Will Halt Mass Resignation Of Engineers

TEHRAN (Reuters)—In an effort to halt mass resignations of British oil company employees at Abadan, the government tonight issued a statement offering to withdraw its anti-sabotage bill if the British staff agrees to stay.

TEHRAN (CP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadeq, in a personal letter today to President Truman, expressed confidence the United States would support Iran's nationalization program.

The letter contained no hint of a compromise, nor did it make any reference to rumors that Truman might be asked to assume the role of mediator.

Mossadeq blamed Britain for threatening to shut down the flow of Iranian oil to the west.

HEAT WAVE TO CONTINUE — WEATHERMAN

Another scorching day hit usually air-conditioned Victoria today as the mercury for the second day soared to the 80 mark.

Residents who sought relief from the heat wherever they could find it, whether on beaches or hilltops or by the sea, learned from the weatherman that the torrid spell is expected to continue for another 48 hours, at least.

The hot spell really began Wednesday, with the temperature registering 82 degrees—the hottest day of the year.

Wednesday's high was the highest June 27 temperature on record. The previous high was 75 degrees on June 27, 1917.

Charge Iraq Treaty Broken

Iran said the presence of the cruiser and British troops in Iraq was a breach of the Iranian-Iraqi friendship pact. British troops are in Iraq under treaty arrangements.

The letter to Truman said the Anglo-Iranian company must be responsible if the Abadan refinery closes down.

The premier charged that A.I.O.C. has resorted to "certain actions which will necessarily cause a stoppage in the exportation of oil... they are encouraging the employees to leave their services and are threatening the government with their resignation en masse... They force oil tankers to refuse to deliver receipts to the present board of directors of the National Oil Company."

There had been hopes in western quarters that Mossadeq might have shown some willingness to negotiate the dispute, might have shown some willingness to make it clear that Iran will insist to the bitter end on carrying out her nationalization law to the letter.

One British official said of the letter: "There's not a thing new in it. There's not the slightest inclination to try and get a reasonable settlement."

Iran also announced today that she will not send representatives to the International Court hearing at The Hague tomorrow on the oil dispute.

ANGRY HOUSE DEBATE

Howe, Drew Have At It Over Nepotism Charge

OTTAWA (CP)—Production Minister Howe today challenged George Drew to stake his Commons seat on a charge that the minister had favored a firm bearing his name with defense contracts.

He said Mr. Howe in a running Commons debate over the charge, would stake his own seat on his denial of the opposition leader's assertion, made Tuesday night in a broadcast address and repeated in the chamber Wednesday and today, Mr. Howe denied, too, that the C. D. Howe Company Limited of Port Arthur, Ont., is a "family company."

Mr. Drew did not take up Mr. Howe's challenge.

Mr. Howe's challenge, was followed by a violent clash between Mr. Drew and Prime Minister St. Laurent, in which the Progressive Conservative leader threatened to leave the chamber rather than withdraw a charge that Mr. St. Laurent was "too cowardly."

At one point, amid a swelling uproar, Mr. Drew began to start from the chamber in apparent anger, but returned to his seat after stepping a few feet along the aisle.

So great had been the uproar in the chamber that reporters in the parliamentary press gallery could not hear clearly the wording of the Prime Minister's statement.

It was a bitter, explosive word-battle which stemmed from Mr. Drew's charge in the Tuesday night broadcast that Mr. Howe had "arranged" government contracts for "his own family company," the C. D. Howe Company Limited.

Returning today from a brief holiday, Mr. Howe told the chamber that he did not like to discuss family matters in the House, but that he would do so because Mr. Drew had referred to a son and son-in-law of his as being connected with the firm.

It was true, said Mr. Howe, that he had a son-in-law, Bob Stedman, a war veteran, who had applied for a position with

Moscow Limits Cease Fire Talks To Military Questions In Korea

Wants China 'Volunteers' Included In Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department announced today that Russia has proposed the United Nations, North Korean and Red Chinese commanders negotiate a Korean armistice.

The Soviet Union suggested armistice terms limited "to strictly military questions."

The proposal was made Wednesday to Ambassador Alan G. Kirk by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko in Moscow.

Gromyko, the department said, "indicated that it would be for the military representatives of the unified command and of the Korean Republic command on the one hand and the military representatives of the North Korean command and of the 'Chinese volunteer units' on the other to negotiate the armistice envisaged in Mr. Malik's statement."

Jacob Malik, Soviet delegate to the United Nations, put forward the original cease-fire suggestion in a speech Saturday.

Kirk, on instructions from State Secretary Dean Acheson, called on Gromyko Thursday to seek a clarification of Malik's speech.

No Political Discussions

The State Department announcement said:

"The armistice, Mr. Gromyko pointed out, would include a cease fire and would be limited to strictly military questions without involving any political or territorial matters; the military representatives would discuss questions of assurance against the resumption of hostilities."

"Beyond the conclusion of an armistice the Soviet government had no specific steps in mind looking toward the peaceful settlement to which Mr. Malik referred. Mr. Gromyko indicated, however, that it would be up to the parties in Korea to decide what subsequent special arrangements would have to be made for a political and territorial settlement."

No Extreme Views Taken

Officials indicated, however, that the department is reserving judgment on prospects for a cease fire, and is steering clear of either elation or dejection as a result of the new development.

White was asked whether Gen. Matthew Ridgway, the U.S. and U.N. commander in Korea, has been ordered to do anything yet as a result of cease-fire preliminary talks.

White replied he doubted seriously the department would want

"He said that the Soviet government was not aware of the views of the Chinese Communist regime in Mr. Malik's statement."

"The implications of Mr. Gromyko's observations are being studied. The Department of State is consulting with the representatives of other countries having armed forces in Korea under the unified command."

At the time of the department's announcement, the Assistant Secretary of State, John D. Hickerson, was engaged in a series of conferences with diplomats representing many of the countries fighting in Korea.

Press Officer Lincoln White told reporters the department could not speculate on what might be the end result of consultations.

Elk River Fire Engulfs 3,500 Acres; More Men Called In To Fight Blaze

Fighters Fear Increased Wind Will Be Hazard

The huge forest fire in the Elk River Timber Company operations, near Campbell River, today had engulfed more than 3,500 acres and was still out of control although fought by more than 400 men, B.C. Forest Service official reported this afternoon.

From two to three million board feet of felled and bucked timber is at risk, officials said.

D. M. Taylor, assistant district forester, said that 15 tractors were also fighting the fire and that more men would be pressed into service.

The fire was burning on a seven-mile front and firefighters were impeded by a lack of shovels. It had spread today to the south end of Goose Neck Lake.

Meanwhile, residents of Courtenay told of cinders and ashes dropping over the city "like dry rain" from the Elk River fire, but forestry officials said the city was not in danger.

Flames at the rim of the fire were reported leaping uncontrollably on the wings of a strong northwest wind after the fire went "underground" during the night to cross fire-breaks.

Forestry officials said the fire smoldered its way under freshly gouged fire lanes to break out anew in green timber.

Wind was fanning all efforts to control the fire, which was eating through rich stands of timber in a crazy zig-zag course that carried leaping flames around the shores of Snakehead Lake, Reginald Lake and Beaver Lake in the central part of the Island.

A fresh weather disturbance moving down from Alaska was expected to increase the force of the wind.

Nineteen other blazes on the coast were reported under control, including the 6,000-acre fire on Moresby Island, in the Queen Charlotte group, off the northern coast of B.C.

Ottawa Approves Big Defense Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons today completed its item-by-item approval of the defense department's huge $1,600,000,000 spending budget for the 1951-52 fiscal year.

Final items in the estimates, under study for weeks, received house assent after Defense Minister Claxton had told the Commons the services do all possible to prevent waste.

CONGRESSMAN SAYS REDS HAVE 100 ATOMIC BOMBS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence Cannon (Dem.-Mo.) said today the latest military information is that Russia has 100 atomic bombs.

Cannon made the statement in a speech to the house of representatives. He was urging it to approve a temporary measure providing funds to run the government until regular appropriations are passed.

In the event of war and Russian attack, Cannon said, military men say it could be expected that Russia could get through and drop 70 bombs on American cities.

In Ottawa, Tuesday, Defense Minister Claxton said Russia had a total of only 20 atom bombs.

Hungarian Prelate Gets 15-Year Prison Sentence

BUDAPEST (AP)—Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph Groesz was convicted today of plotting to overthrow the Communist government of Hungary and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

One of the other eight defendants tried with the Archbishop was sentenced to death. He is Ferenc Vecer, a Paulician monk, who confessed in court that he killed a Russian soldier.

Five others received jail sentences ranging from eight to 14 years.

The Archbishop, Hungary's highest ranking Catholic Church dignitary since Cardinal Mindszenty was sent to prison for life in a similar trial in 1949, had confessed publicly in court to illegal activities.

No sentences were announced in the cases of two other defendants—Dr. Elajos Pongracz, a Hungarian national who had been employed by the United States Legation, and Dr. Laszlo Hevey, Pongracz will be tried again by a military court, and the case of Hevey was "separated" from the others, the court announced.

The five others who received jail sentences ranging from eight to 14 years are:

Dr. Pal Bozak, a Catholic priest who was a member of the pre-war parliament; 10 years.

Dr. Endre Farkas, a lawyer; eight years.

Vendel Endredy, Cistercian Abbot of Cirtz; 14 years.

Gyula Haygo Kovacs, a member of the pre-war Upper-House (senate); 13 years.

Istvan Csernar, general of the Paulician order; 10 years.

BRITISH ARMY DEALS BLOW AT CHIVALRY

TOKYO (Reuters)—Several British army officers, on the carpet for their part in allowing the comely young wife of an English officer serving in Korea to dodge the security network and visit her husband near the front, have been transferred out of this theatre.

The transfers follow an official inquiry into the trust sources near the Commonwealth command said today.

The officers were alleged to have aided Mrs. Benita Lasseter to fly from Tokyo to Iwakuni and across to Seoul in Korea where she met her husband, Capt. Matthew Lasseter of the Northumberland Fusiliers, this month.

May Approve Wage Offer

Executive of the B.C. Government Employees' Association at a meeting in Vancouver today is expected to approve a counter wage offer made by the government in the civil servants' four-months fight for a 15 per cent across the board raise.

Details of the new offer have not been made known, but it is understood it will cost the province approximately $1,700,000 as compared to the $2,500,000 increase the 15 per cent hike would have made.

It has been suggested the new offer in which different classifications of employees will receive different amounts, will be retroactive to April 1.

PALACE AND PARLIAMENT

COPENHAGEN.—I don't want to bore you, dear reader, with so many castles as to sound like a walking guide-book, but after having touched upon several of Denmark's oldest castles, I feel the time has come to tell you a little about one of its newer ones, especially as it is unique in that part of it forms the home of the Danish Parliament.

I refer to Christiansborg Palace, in the heart of Copenhagen, built on an island formed by the canal which winds its way through the city and connects with the sea. To get to the palace you pass over an ancient bridge, near which is the famous fish-market, where fat, elderly fishwives sit every morning and sell their wares, fish from the boats moored to the quay, wearing the same bonnets and shawls that have been worn by Danish fishwives for the last 800 years.

SIXTH EDIFICE

CHRISTIANSBORG PALACE happens to be the sixth built on the present site, the others having been pillaged or burned at various periods in Denmark's history. It is no longer used as a royal residence, but contains the royal reception chambers where public audiences take place, as well as state functions. I learned that it is an old tradition that every Dane, regardless of his rank or class, can talk to his King about any subject that is of importance to him.

Because of the beauty of the inlaid, parquet floors—in which the finest mahogany, bog oak, ebony, and other beautiful woods are inlaid in amazingly elaborate patterns—we had to don felt slippers before touring the palace.

MAGNIFICENT ROOMS

ALTHOUGH much more modern than Rosenberg, the Christiansborg salons are just as magnificent and ornate. Walls, doors and ceilings throughout are lavishly decorated with purest gold-leaf—24-carat—and priceless Gobelin and Flemish tapestries, paintings by world-renowned artists and "objets d'art" greet the eye at every turn.

One immense group painting, which occupies the whole of one wall, portrays Christian the Ninth with 31 members of his family, either immediate or by marriage, including Queen Alexandra and King Edward the Seventh. After realizing the royal ramifications of that family group, it was not surprising to hear that King Christian the Ninth was known as "the grandfather and father-in-law of Europe."

CRYSTAL AND GOLD

I FOUND the royal library very interesting. In this beautiful cream and gold room, with its upper gallery, more than 10,000 first editions, most of them in beautiful, hand-tooled bindings, are available for the King. And I was told that he uses it constantly.

From the state audience chamber, with its ornate thrones of gold, covered with embossed crimson velvet, we passed through room after room, each one more fabulously beautiful than the other. And I was particularly struck with the magnificent chandeliers. In every room they were of different design, but all of exquisite handcut rock crystal, combined with gold. In the huge ballroom were six chandeliers of Venetian glass, each about 12 feet in depth and about the same in diameter, which looked iridescent when lighted.

PUBLIC BUSINESS

IT WAS difficult to accustom myself, after so much regal splendor, to the fact that the top floor of the palace houses the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs, while the southern wing is devoted to the Rigsdag, or Parliament.

And on emerging from the state reception rooms, which I have described, on to the inner courtyard of the Christiansborg Palace, I couldn't help smiling when I noticed the imposing architecture. For the architecture of the Parliament Building is supported by giant statues of men depicted in such attitudes of agony as to suggest that they might, perhaps, symbolize the by-gone taxpayers who had to foot the bill for all the royal extravagance of the past which makes the Copenhagen of the present such a historic haven of beauty.

FEW COMPLAINTS HEARD

Tax Payments Coming In

Telling the Victoria taxpayer where his tax dollar goes has paid off in more satisfied customers, in the belief of some city officials today.

Since tax notices began going out to 14,000 the end of May "no more complaints than usual have been received despite the three-mill jump in the rate. This year it is 55 mills compared to 1950's 52 mills."

City Manager Cecil Wyatt believes the pamphlet covering the breakdown of the tax dollar, sent out on authority of Mayor Percy George, has had a direct bearing on reception of the tax notices this year.

"People realize everything is going up and taxes have to also," said A. G. Joyce, the city's assessor-collector. "It is better when you explain to the taxpayer where his dollar is going."

Tax payments are coming in steadily with collections about the same as last year at this time.

Doble Conferring With Traffic Men

Robert Doble, head of Victoria's traffic survey section is in Vancouver today to confer with traffic officials in the mainland city. City Manager Cecil Wyatt said, "It is merely a general discussion," Mr. Wyatt said, adding that the visit was not concerning a comparison of parking meters.

Russia Would Be Beaten--Claxton

Western Democracies Build Up Forces To Deter Any Aggressor

OTTAWA (CP)—Defense Minister Claxton is confident Russia would be defeated if she attacked the west now or at any time.

"I believe," he said Wednesday night in the Commons, "that the resources of the western democracies, and of those that would be associated with them in an all-out war, would defeat the forces of the Soviet Union and those that they could muster."

But, he added, "I am only confident provided we all put out a tremendous effort, and keep it up."

He spoke after George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked if he shared the views of Postmaster-General Rinfret who was quoted as saying recently that "we have so worked with other Atlantic Pact countries as to be sure Russia would be defeated if she attacked today."

Mr. Drew said statements made by senior staff officers in the U.S. indicated they did not share that opinion.

Mr. Claxton then said he was confident of the outcome of a war with Russia. But the object of the west was not to defeat Russia.

Object To Prevent War

"Our object is to prevent war by deterring aggression," by building up our forces to the point where an aggressor will hesitate to attack. That is why we are in Korea, and that is why we are in the North Atlantic Treaty. That is why the other western nations are devoting such huge proportions of their national effort and national income to the job we have set our hands to."

The discussion occurred while the House passed an estimated $1,500,000,000 in defense estimates for the 1951-52 fiscal year. The amount was believed a record for a one-day sitting of the Commons.

At the House opening, Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mr. Drew clashed over an assertion by the Progressive Conservative leader that Producing Minister Howe had "arranged" government contracts for "his own family company," the C. D. Howe Co. Ltd.

Mr. St. Laurent, stating that Mr. Howe has said he severed his business connection with the engineering firm in 1935, charged

Seek New Defense College

The strength of the reserve army was more than 46,000 at April 30.

Several Progressive Conservative members said many reserve army units are under strength and called for steps to stimulate recruiting and to increase training.

Several members also called for establishment of a French-language defense college in Quebec for the training of French Canadian officers.

Mr. Claxton said another war possibly would make such a college a necessity in Quebec, but he did not know whether it should be limited to French-language courses.

Police Commission Backs Chief On Drunkometer Use

The police commission intends to find out for itself whether the Harger drunkometer can be successfully used here. Commission members late Wednesday supported a lengthy report on the drunk-testing machine submitted by Police Chief John Blackstock, but voted to withhold final action until further advice is available.

"I feel the use of the drunkometer is a step in the right direction," Chief Blackstock said, "but first of all we have to get the courts to accept such evidence."

Chief Blackstock's approval of the machine, with reservations, was first disclosed by the Daily Times on Tuesday.

"I think it is up to a magistrate whether he will accept a drunkometer report as evidence," Mayor George stated.

Food Stall Approved By City Welfare

City welfare committee has no objections to a surplus food stall in Victoria—approval of which has now been given by the Community Welfare Council—Ald. Margaret Christie, chairman, said today.

The attitude, however, does not change the committee's resentment of action taken by finance committee, Alderman Christie added.

"The idea of a food stall is a good one," she said of the plan of Mrs. Barbara Green, volunteer social worker.

"However we still feel slighted by the finance committee. The matter should have gone through the regular channel."

The finance committee had referred Mrs. Green's request to the welfare committee. The latter turned it over to the welfare council for report. Before that report was ready, finance committee decided to give immediate approval to the stall.

The stall will open at the Public Market July 7 from 4 to 6.

Bootleg Liquor, Pinballs Target

Police Commission To Clamp Down On 'Joints'; Gambling By Minors

A clampdown on sales of "bootleg" liquor to servicemen and on operators who allow youngsters to use pinball machines has been advised by the police commission, the Daily Times learned today, following a long session of the commission late Wednesday at which Police Chief John Blackstock was present.

"The commission made the recommendations to the police head after discussion led by Commissioners J. E. Neely and Brent Murdoch.

"There is always an opportunity when large numbers of servicemen come for new groups to start 'bootlegging,'" said Mr. Murdoch today. "There has been a slight increase in illegal sales, I believe, but the police are keeping a very close watch on it."

ALL-NIGHT STORE?

Mr. Murdoch suggested to a Daily Times reporter that an all-night liquor store might help to keep down illegal sales.

At the meeting, Mr. Murdoch said he thought "a warning would stop a lot of people from going into the business."

"Every effort should be made to keep control of the situation," commented Mr. Neely, speaking of both illegal liquor sales and pinball operations, "otherwise, it will get beyond us."

Commissioners Murdoch and Neely promised Mayor Percy George, commission chairman, full support in any action he might take in City Council to increase control of pinball machines.

"We don't worry about grown-ups playing pinball machines," Mr. Neely said, "but they get to be a habit with youngsters and they can't stay away from them."

"I feel that when the city licensed the machines they gave the operators a certain sense of security," he continued. "As a result, the proper supervision is not being given the machines. I don't care whether they pay off or not. We are against young people playing the machines."

the firm in 1947 and was accepted as an engineer. A son, John, had been employed there as an engineer since 1948.

But there were about 50 engineers altogether in the firm, many of them far more senior in rank than his son and son-in-law.

Mr. Howe, speaking on a question of privilege, said he had severed his connections with the firm in 1935, after the late Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King asked him to join the Liberal Party and seek a seat in Parliament.

TWICE TOO MUCH

Mr. Drew, he said, had referred specifically to government fees to the firm in excess of $500,000. That, said Mr. Howe, was about twice the amount the firm received.

At that time, he owned all the shares in the firm, which had contracts to build grain elevators for the Board of Grain Commissioners. The reason Mr. Howe allowed his name to be used after he left the firm was because the man who took over operations said he would find it difficult to operate otherwise.

Mr. Howe said he had no hesitation in having an investigation made by a special committee or a Royal Commission as suggested by Mr. Drew.

Mr. Howe said that during the last federal election, Mr. Drew had accused him of taking graft from Canair Limited. This subsequently was denied by every director of the firm, including some of Mr. Drew's own supporters.

This, now, was a further "smear" on his reputation, said Mr. Howe, but he was not worried about it.

NEEDS CLEANING UP

Mr. Drew said Mr. Howe had "quite clearly indicated the association of his family with the company, and he has established exactly what was said."

"Before there is talk of smear tactics, both by the minister and by the Prime Minister, it is time the government cleaned up this improper situation," Mr. Drew said.

U.S. Leaders Favor Controls

WASHINGTON (UP) —

The house banking committee voted 21 to 3 today to extend federal controls over prices, wages and rents for 31 days through July 31.

Administration leaders planned to call up the stopgap extension bill for a House vote tomorrow—less than 36 hours before controls are scheduled to expire.

Meanwhile, President Truman summoned Price Controller Michael V. Disalle to an emergency conference on the legislative situation.

Before hurrying to the White House, Disalle charged the permanent controls measure before the Senate would kill meat controls and cripple the whole price stabilization program.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

A SHORT time ago, the editors of the Vancouver Daily Province got into the argument about whether bosses can spell better than secretaries. I don't know who won their little test, and I don't much care. I'm no great speller myself, and I hear everyone is getting worse. What did interest me, however, was the list of words the editors presented as being the ten most frequently misspelled words in their professional experience. (I got three of the ten wrong, spelling verily, I might have done slightly better on paper, where you can get the look of the darn thing.) The ten words were embarrass, harass, innuendo, siege, recommend, effervescent, picnicking, inoculate, malleable, and accommodation.

It seems to me that there are certain words much oftener misspelled in newspapers than those ten. But the editors wouldn't know whether those other words were misspelled or not, unless they looked very hard at them, and maybe not even then! I can think of two offhand. One is wiener, which is nearly always spelled weiner. The other is dais, which is usually spelled (and pronounced) dias. There must be tons of others.

LITTLE as I care about spelling, there is one branch of the art that appeals to me. This is when you have a choice between two spellings, both correct. For example, you can write either connection or connexion, judgement or judgment, forever or for ever, gipsy or gypsy, draught or draft, dispatch or despatch, gaol or jail, waggon or wagon, woolly or wooly, lackey or lacquey, and so on. I never use an out-of-the-way spelling as pure affectation, just to be superior. But if you can be sure it will annoy anyone worth annoying or arguing with, it can be a minor pleasure.

TOOBY SHOO, TOOBY SHOO

MY cat occasionally kills a shrew-mouse. Not very big game, though good enough for a cat, maybe. (Some of the shrews are the world's smallest mammals.) Not that cats will eat them... they have a queer smell palatable only to owls, or so I'm told. There are some other queer things besides the smell. They argue and fight with each other for no reason at all, their nerves being all shot to bits. They eat their own weight in food every three hours, all round the clock, and they will eat almost any animal matter... they don't quarrel with their menu, just with themselves. And they are always dropping dead from fright. A clap of thunder will slaughter them, or any sudden noise.

WELL, the cat killed another shrew last night (with teeth, not with loud, rude noises). One of my small daughters found it and came in to report "There's a shoe in the garden." This didn't seem awfully interesting, except as a matter of keeping the kids tidier, and I asked idly, "Whose?"

She said she didn't know, but it was a small one. I said it must be Timothy's, then. She asked why. I said, "Because he's the smallest of you; don't be silly. Tell him to put it away at once." She said, "He can't." I asked why. She said, "Because it's all covered with blood. Anyway it belongs to the cat now. The cat has chewed it all up."

I said, "Look, who's crazy, you or me? Tim's shoe full of blood and the cat eating it?" "No, no," she said, "other shoes." "I don't care," I yelled, "which of his blasted shoes it is. Bring it here and let's see what the nonsense is about." "Can't," she said, "I'm scared."

Then I decided we were both crazy, but as I took her hand and started up the path to the asylum, I paused to look at a dead shrew. "See what I mean?" she said. "Yes, doggone it," I said, "sometimes I eventually do, at that."

MY SALAD DAYS

IN the midst of this season of salads (and may it be a long one), I pause to give thanks. Thanks not only for the good leaf-lettuce from my garden instead of beastly head-lettuce, but for the fact that I am able to buy those little cones of hard green cheese again, to grate upon my salads. For some years we were unable to find any in the shops. Maybe we went to wrong shops, or maybe it took the Swiss a long time to start shipping it again after the war. Anyhow, it is in good supply in my larder once more. In the States such cheese is called "sapsago"... the dictionary informs me this is a corruption of a German word, schabziger, a kind of cheese for grating.

I HAVE seen Swiss brands labelled SPSAGO for the American trade, but the brand I am getting just now has no such name. It just says "Genuine Swiss Green Cheese." It is made by Geska, and is called Geska Brand, and a little cone of it costs a quarter or less and will last for months. It is hard as a nutmeg, so that it grates very fine. And its powerful (but lovely) flavor goes a long, long way, so go easy on it. Besides tasting of excellent green cheese, it also tastes of mellot, a sweet clover used in making it.

If a little sapsago is good on a salad (especially with French dressing), it is a miracle in almost any soup. Grate a little into even the commonest cream of tomato soup, and you'll see wonders. You'll bless me, yes you will, for being nice enough to tell you this.

TALKING of salads, I quite realize that if you have got too used to Iceberg lettuce from shops, you may actually have grown to prefer it. You may actually contain neither vitamins nor flavor, and know full well it is the main lettuce of commerce because it travels and keeps well, and still prefer it as your customary dish. I am the same way with tobacco... after 24 years of bad tobacco, good tobacco is wasted on me. I used to have a guest in the height of a heavenly salad season. The garden lettuce was superb. Our dressings were almost inspired. He paid little or no attention. And one night when we left him to dine alone, he sneaked out to buy store lettuce and bottled mayonnaise. But look who's talking... having used cheap oils since 1939, I can hardly bear the rich goodness of genuine olive oil any more.

No Rest For The Weary

CITY PLANNING

What is Victoria going to look like in 30 years' time?

It's lucky that totalitarian elimination of solo work in architecture had not raised its ugly head when our Parliament Building was constructed, otherwise we might have had an ugly, flat-roofed, box-like Parliament Building, and consequently a harbor with no trace of beauty.

In 30 years' time, is Victoria's public architecture going to look like a Brodingnagian warehouse of gigantic pack-in-cases?

In France 150 years ago, traveler Arthur Young relates that he saw in southern France new streets laid out, with shop and house fronts symmetrically and artistically built to harmonize with the beauty of the city, but the owners had never built any houses belonging to the "fron'ts" owing to the revolution.

PARKING METERS

In a recent issue of the morning paper, commenting editorially on the loss which the city will sustain due to the fact that the parking meters will soon be unfit for use, the statement was made that, however, this was not a calamitous matter, as the meters had taken in revenue over twice their cost in the last two years.

To me, this reasoning is positively astounding. The money did not come from Heaven, it came from already sorely over-taxed motorists, and the loss was, therefore, a loss to this particular class of taxpayer, who already is unfairly over-taxed.

The source of all revenues in taxation is from the people. It may not be calamitous for the city as an abstract entity to lose this money, but it is calamitous in a concrete form for the unfortunate taxpayers in this city.

PENSIONS

In Saturday's issue of the Daily Times, Health Minister Martin is quoted as saying that if pensions were paid to all at 65, the number can be expected to increase at a greater rate than the entire population. This can only happen if he were to include those whose circumstances did not warrant their applying for pension as well as those who need it.

He also says it would encourage premature retirement, which I consider a dirty crack at our citizens, when the government is the first employer to insist upon their civil servants being retired at that age, when many of them have years of usefulness left, especially in office work.

Moreover, if contributory payments are to be instituted for the paying of pensions, what is to stop them building up a tremendous surplus, the same as has been already done with the payments towards compensation and the unemployment fund.

A Voice For Conservation

VISITING friends near Metochin recently I noticed a new method of razing the landscape which we must now presumably add to the highly developed methods of depredation perfected by the logger.

I refer to the removal, wholesale with giant bulldozers, of the topsoil from an entire field. This is illegal in many communities. One does not have to be a graduate agriculturist to visualize the outcome of this if it is to be permitted without restriction.

It would be interesting to re-visit Vancouver Island in a century's time—but very briefly. Right now top soil and lumber bring a good price and nobody worries. It might be an eye-opener to the general public if they could see the desert wasteland created back of, say Chemainus, Nanaimo and Cowichan Lake, by logging interests who always assure everybody "of course we are re-seeding all the time" or, "we have a rigid reforestation program."

Recently, to be true, one or two larger companies are putting up a show but, for the most part, I have failed to see evidences of much new growth in most areas. The desert in Arizona looks less like a desert than some of the logged stretches on your Island.

The sportsmen, and many are loggers, cry conservation. They stick their heads into the sawdust pile, in the manner of the ostrich, to ignore the advent of the auto (especially those with four-wheel drive) and the ease in which they can now get quickly to hunting areas. There was no shortage of deer prior to the advent of the sportsmen—and I use the word somewhat freely.

Look about at your wastelands which were once world-famed forests. When the rains come there is nothing to hold the water; it runs off in a torrent of mud (topsoil) and into the creeks where the fish have spawned. The eggs go with this deluge.

Each winter in these very wastelands, hundreds of deer die of starvation and exposure—not by wolves, gentlemen of the Duncan and Lower Somenos Game Conservation Board, but because you hacked away the forest glades and these animals find themselves in a strange new habitat which affords no shelter.

A great many loggers have brains and would undoubtedly back these opinions—but not in public. They themselves have seen these things, erosion in the form of landslides has blocked their trains. They have seen the spawn washed out and many a logger has attempted to save the lives of deer around the camps.

But nobody does anything—most especially the government which has on its staff some of the world's best authorities on this subject. It might hurt a voter's feelings.

Turning Back The Clock

New York Times

RECENT NEWS FROM SHANGHAI indicates that the Chinese Communists' blood bath has not abated. Mass executions are still the order of the day and they are being used to stamp out any vestiges of opposition to the new regime. That means also that they are being used as instruments of personal and political revenge and likewise as a weapon of crude terrorism.

We recoil from this spectacle with shock and horror partly because it is a betrayal of the real China. The country, at just the time of its most hopeful emergence into a friendly world, is being pushed back into barbarity. China, along with the Soviet Union, is reverting to the Dark Ages in the name, ironically enough, of progress and reform.

It is significant that the Communists have not felt confident of their ability to impose their program on the country without making a violent effort to uproot some of the best things in Chinese society and Chinese culture. Confucianism has been attacked. The family system is under fire. The great and growing cosmopolitanism of the Chinese is being assailed in a revival of xenophobia in a singularly ugly form. This accounts, of course, for the attack on missions and their related activities. It is an effort to break ties and to build occluding walls.

It is ironic also that the Chinese Communist regime should continue to give its demonstration of cruel and heartless behavior just at the time when that regime is trying to gain recognition and admission from the family of civilized nations. The Chinese, in times past, have made thousands of friends for themselves all over the world. Peiping now seems ruthlessly bent on making as many enemies as possible.

Total War And Co-Existence

By WALTER LIPPMANN

from Washington
(Last of a series of three.)

IT must have seemed to many a crude oversimplification of the problem when they read in the preceding article that the great ideological conflict of our age, the contemporary form of the wars of religion could be and should be translated into a contest over territory. It does, I would agree, define the problem in far simpler terms than it is now the fashion to use in speaking of the ideological war. But to define the problem simply and concretely is not to say and to suggest that the problem can be solved easily or cheaply.

On the contrary, nothing is so rare in human history as a peaceable change in the sovereign control of disputed lands. If, therefore, I have simplified the definition of the problem, it is not because I think the problem does not continue to be the hardest and the most dangerous we have ever had to solve.

Dynastic wars, religious wars, nationalist wars, wars of independence, imperialist wars, all have had to be fought for and settled in terms of territory. They have been fought to enlarge or to reduce the domain of this king or of that one.

The great religious conflict between the Greek and the Latin church, between Christendom and Islam, between Protestantism and Catholicism all ended in a division of territory. The nationalist wars and the wars of independence have ended in the fixing of national frontiers. The imperialist wars have ended in the recognition of colonies, dependencies, protectorates, and spheres of influence.

OPINION CONFIRMED

My own confidence in the view that real objectives are concrete and geographical is confirmed by what has happened in the conflict with the Soviet Union. Almost all of the agreements we have made with the Soviet Union have been broken. However, there is one agreement, perhaps the most important of all the agreements we made with it, which has never been violated. It is the one which fixes the boundary lines in Europe and in Asia between the Red Armies and the military forces of the Western powers.

That agreement was territorial, and therefore it was so concrete and so definite that to violate it was to commit an overt and indisputable breach of the peace.

In contrast with it virtually all the other agreements have been failures—all the agreements to collaborate in Germany, to collaborate in Berlin, to collaborate in Korea, all the agreements to establish democratic institutions within the orbit of the Soviet Army, all the agreements to work harmoniously in the United Nations to solve the problems of the new states which arise from the old empires.

I do not think, therefore, that I have oversimplified the problem in saying that the issue between the Soviet Union and the Atlantic community can be defined in terms of the territories that are in dispute. The ideological war may be global and universal.

But the diplomatic and military conflict with the Soviet government is about particular countries. For there would as a matter of fact be no mortal conflict with Russia about the social and moral order of the world if the Russian armies had never had to cross the frontiers of the Soviet Union in order to defeat Hitler, or had promptly returned behind the Soviet frontiers when the war was ended.

If the Red Army were not in the centre of Europe and pressing against all the frontiers which now contain it, there would be no more Russian problem today than there has been for a century. And in my view there would be no Communist problem, in the Western world at least, that nations with good governments and a loyal police force could not cope with.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"I DON'T suppose," said the Elevator Man, "I'll ever die down—the controversy over fat people and thin people. Every now and then a representative of one or the other group gets up and hotly defends the advantages of life in whatever form he happens to have. But just as often these people will pop up and assail their own shape. The fatties bowl hat life isn't all beer and victuals—that weighing twice too much is a chore and a bore. And skinny folks come right out sometimes and admit that they'd like a little more tallow on their bones, asserting that a bean pole is a has-been. With such mutiny and treason in each camp, the average, medium-sized person can't be too sure who to believe. As far as arguments go, he has a fair chance of getting in even the thin edge of the wedge. Going up!"

"I see," said the Elevator Man, "where a judge in Connecticut has ruled in favor of the old theory that it's better to cuddle the calories that die on a diet. In denying a couple a divorce he said people should remain 'plump and pleasant' instead of thin and scrappy" and then they wouldn't get on each other's nerves. Maybe he has something there. But he didn't explain how fat people can stay happy on a hot day. Mezzanine!"

"Women," said the Elevator Man, "seem to worry more about getting fat than men. Somebody says women diet for one of two reasons—to retain their girlish figures or their boyish husbands. But the fact is, a lot of people are earning fat livings teaching other people how to get thin. And that brings up the story of the sweet young thing that went to see her doctor. 'What's the most you've ever weighed?' he asked, in getting her background. 'A hundred and twenty,' she told him. 'And what was the least?' he continued, hoping to strike an average. But she had him there. 'Seven pounds,' she said, 'four ounces.'"

Britain's Summer Calm

MOVING TOWARDS ITS SUMMER holiday, the British Parliament has lately encountered a surprising calm after the storms of the spring.

On the one hand the Conservative party apparently has abandoned as hopeless and perhaps dangerous its tactic of harassing the government with bitter attacks and repeated no-confidence motions.

On the other, Mr. Bevan, after quitting the cabinet and threatening the government's destruction, has evidently decided to be good for the time being. Looking ahead to the Labor party's annual conference in the autumn, he is wise enough to know that if he destroys the government meanwhile the party will never forgive him.

With Messrs. Churchill and Bevan suddenly quiet on either flank Mr. Attlee has gained a breathing-space. It can hardly last long. Despite his present mood of conciliation, Mr. Bevan must advocate his case against the government at the autumn conference or tacitly admit that he was wrong in quitting it. A showdown between the left wing rebels and the moderates of the government will come sooner or later. Mr. Attlee may prefer to postpone it until after a quick election in the fall rather than to lead an openly divided party to the polls.

The Conservatives are proceeding on the assumption that an election may be called at any moment. Their energies are concentrated, therefore, on organization in the country while Parliament is allowed to drone on in peace.

As the London Economist observes, the Conservatives have yet to present any clear policy as an alternative to the policies of the government. They have shaken the government by parliamentary manoeuvre and apparently succeeded only in irritating the public thereby. They have undertaken a campaign of organization in the country. They have not presented a program which the public can grasp.

Altogether it is an unsatisfactory situation in times like these—a government surviving by a few parliamentary votes and supported by a divided party, an opposition hoping to win by the government's weakness without an alternative policy. An election must be held before Britain can hope to enjoy strong government, of left or right.

Let There Be No Mistake

THE FACT THAT RUSSIA HAS badly misjudged American sentiment—a common failing of totalitarian regimes—an more than one occasion, no doubt prompted the chairman of the MacArthur investigating committee to warn that country against an error in gauging democratic morale today. Recent controversies, Richard B. Russell believes, could conceivably convince the Soviet that the United States is too divided internally to fight a foreign enemy. That might lead them into "the fatal mistake of waging war."

An European, and particularly a resident of the Iron Curtain countries, must have great difficulty in interpreting the news from this continent. The spectacles of argument and strife, the political manoeuvring, the log-rolling, the lobbying, the investigations and above all the blinding publicity given each event, must present a picture of confusion, dissension and chaos to an outsider.

Nowhere can he find the orderly agreement, the silent co-operation, the quick obedience that reign where the state is omnipotent and government control complete. Small wonder that he should mis-read the evidence. Small wonder that he should conclude that here is a people ripe for defeat.

It is less likely, of course, that such ideas should be held by the Soviet rulers. By now they should fully appreciate the error of underestimating the cohesive quality of democratic peoples when faced by a common danger. But the Kaiser completely mis-read British intentions and capabilities in 1914; Hitler in 1939 similarly miscalculated eventual American reactions. Will Stalin be equally stupid in these cold war years? Reputedly, he is too keen a student of history to make that mistake—and the history of the past score of months should provide him with much material. Nevertheless Mr. Russell's point is well taken. It will serve the cause of peace to ensure that Moscow fully realizes the temper of the New World. With no implication of threat and no suggestion of bluster, they should make sure the Kremlin has heard our often-expressed convictions and fully understands their significance.

'False And Superfluous'

ADVOCATING THE EIGHT-HOUR day, says a newspaper in the Soviet zone of Germany, is a "false and superfluous idea." Such a demand may be all right in the West, the paper adds, where workers must labor overtime to speed rearmament and fill the pockets of monopolists. But in the East "it serves only the class enemies—the American warmongers."

It is too much to expect, of course, that the German Communist journal would have any appreciation of general labor conditions in North America; too much to expect it to know about agreements on wages and working conditions that put labor on this continent in a preferred world position. Nor does the newspaper mention the vast difference between what the American worker can buy with his eight hours' labor and what his counterpart under Communism can afford.

It has been said that the most potent piece of propaganda this continent could send to the countries behind the Iron

Curtain would be a photograph of the hundreds, even thousands, of private automobiles—workers' automobiles—parked outside any large Canadian or American factory. Such a sight would be almost incomprehensible in Russia, for only a favored few have cars in the "worker's paradise."

But even apart from these physical advantages enjoyed by western workers, it would be still more difficult for the Soviet or satellite citizen to match the freedom which the Canadian or American takes as a matter of course. Anyone on this continent who does not have an eight-hour day is fully at liberty to demand one as loudly as he desires, with a fair hope of getting it. One hears little of demands from labor—whether in the mass or individually—in Russia. Such actions would be construed as "counter-revolutionary," the familiar general term for anything the government doesn't like. With or without an official trial, it's good for at least ten years in a Siberian labor camp.

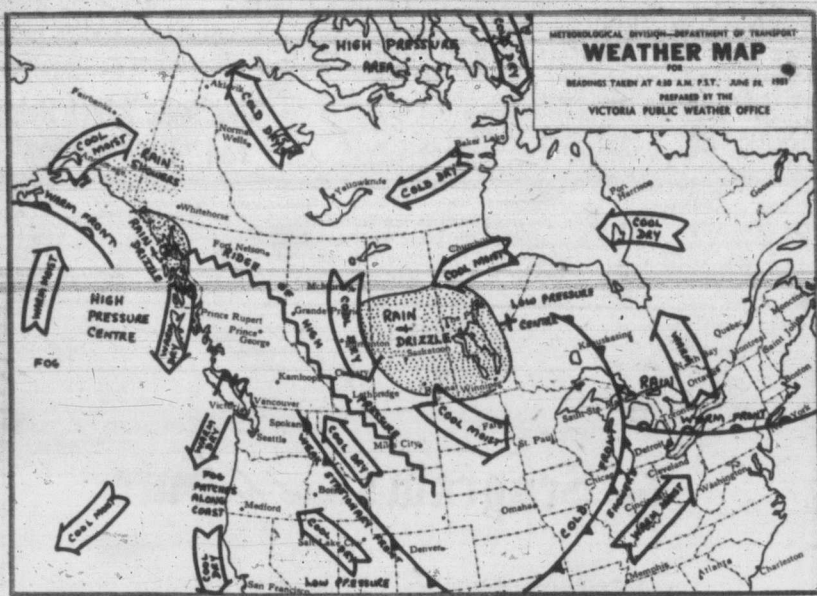

Off His Head Over Hedy's Bed

H. S. "MONTY" MONCRIEF, A 40-year-old aircraft parts manufacturer, who is not a Hedy Lamarr fan, recently bought Hedy's rose velvet bed for $250, outbidding 500 curious spectators at a Hollywood auction. His purchase brought two comments from his wife: "How dumb can you get?" and "Honestly, Monty, sometimes I wonder if you've got any brain at all."

Mrs. Moncrief might have phrased her opinion a little more delicately, but she could not have conveyed it more clearly. "How dumb can you get?" in the practice of acquiring souvenirs from celebrities? Yet "Monty" is far from alone in his mental lapse. It is the same type of fever which grips the autograph hunter, the rabid fan who rips pieces from an actor's clothing, or it might even be the identical impulse which seeks autographed copies of books from authors personally unknown to the purchaser who, incidentally, may be highly respected and respectable.

Somewhere in the practice seems to rest a wish, a certain wishful longing, for vicarious association with individuals of note. Perhaps it is a very human emotion, not necessarily—as it seems to be—a telling indication of present day idiosyncrasy.

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE TO DATE, 1951—1,278.7 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: Skies are still clear over the greater part of B.C. today and all indications point to a continuation of this fine weather. Winds are now expected to remain quite light over the south coast both today and tomorrow and as a result temperatures in these sections will climb sharply. Similarly in the Interior there will be two days of warm weather with the cloudiness confined to the very extreme eastern and northern sections of the province today.

REGIONAL FORECASTS—VALID UNTIL MIDNIGHT FRIDAY

VICTORIA: Sunny and warm today and Friday. Winds light. Low tonight and high tomorrow, 55 and 60.
VANCOUVER, GEORGIA STRAIT: Sunny and warm today and Friday. Winds light except northwest 15 on the strait both days. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Vancouver Airport, 55 and 60. At Abbotsford, 50 and 55; Nanaimo, 55 and 60.
WEST COAST: Sunny and warm today and Friday. Fog banks offshore. Winds light northerly. Low tonight and high tomorrow, 55 and 60.

Most Victorians To Get Dominion Day Holiday

Monday, July 2, has been officially designated as a public holiday throughout Canada in observance of the 94th anniversary of Confederation. The Legislative Buildings, public offices, court-house, business offices and industrial plants will be closed here, giving Victorians an opportunity to celebrate Dominion Day with out-door sports and picnics.

There will be no letter carrier delivery on the holiday but the wicket service at the Post Office will be open in the morning from

CURIOUS COSTUME

Johnny Applesseed first began his curious custom of planting apple seeds about 1801, in Ohio. His dress was as curious as his occupation, for he wore a coffee sack for a cloak, and on his head he wore the pan in which he cooked his meals.

9 until 11. The special delivery service will operate as usual. Many Victorians will be spending the national holiday at Duncan's Dominion Day celebration and at up-island summer resorts. The transportation lines, land, sea and air, and highways are expected to be jammed with holiday-goers.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Miss B. Green, Box 361, Davis, Okla., writes: "For three years my face was covered with large pimples. I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for three weeks I was greatly relieved; and now the pimples are entirely gone." Cuticura Soap and Ointment may help you too! Buy Cuticura at your druggist today!

SAANICH WATER USERS

The Municipal Council wishes to express appreciation to residents in the water area of Saanich for their splendid co-operation to date in voluntarily regulating garden sprinkling to alternate days and off-peak hours. If such co-operation is continued it is probable that compulsory watering restrictions will not be necessary this year.

To allow a more equitable distribution of water to all parts of the water system, residents are asked to follow this general rule: Do all garden watering between 9.00 p.m. and 9.00 a.m. the following day. If this is not possible, residents on the north or west side of streets or having even numbered houses water on even numbered days, and residents on the south or east side of streets or having odd numbered houses water on odd numbered days.

H. D. DAWSON, Municipal Engineer.

An Open Letter To Young Men And Their Parents

We feel that unnecessary misunderstandings exist regarding the terms of service in the RESERVE FORCE.

Some young men seem to be concerned about signing up for three years, the terms of enlistment laid down.

HOWEVER—

Discharge from this unit has always been granted freely on request, provided clothing and equipment, which has been issued free of cost, is returned. We invite young men to join—to see for themselves that belonging to the RESERVE ARTILLERY is a lot of fun!

IS RESERVE FORCE PAY WORTH WHILE?

Members of the 75th Regiment will shortly be paid for their weekly attendance for the first five months of the year. The payroll—$14,000.00.

WHAT SORT OF FOOD DO THEY EAT ON EXERCISES?

On Sunday, June 10th, the unit fired three guns from Albert Head, at an aircraft-towed target.

The menu at noon:
 Pea soup
 Sirloin steaks in deep gravy
 Vegetables
 Coffee or milk and lots of it
 Peach pie

And on return to the Armory:
 Bacon and fried egg sandwiches
 All the cocoa they could drink

The 75th Regiment, although less than two years old, has a greater strength than any other Reserve Force unit in British Columbia. It is therefore reasonable to assume that its volunteer members enjoy their service, and that they are well treated.

While this strength is gratifying, we are not satisfied, and many more men are required.

The 75th B.C. Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment stands between our community and a bombing attack. If such an attack should never develop, it is obvious that a man has lost nothing by being a member of the unit. However, should the attack come, the strength of the unit may well be a deciding factor in the amount of damage to property and loss of life.

By staying out of a unit like this, you will not prevent a war—by belonging to it, you may be contributing to the winning of a war, should one break out. Today then, is the time to join!

PAYS FINE IN KOREAN MONEY

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A soldier on duty in Korea has offered to pay a traffic fine in Korean money. City Manager Keith Chinn said he received 300 wan (about 5 cents) Wednesday from Pte. John C. Mortimer in Korea with the 8th Cavalry Regiment, to cover a parking fine. With the wan was a note from Mortimer. "I haven't any U.S. money," he wrote, "but if this won't do I'd be glad for you to come and get me."

Says Luciano Still Czar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal agent, Charles Siragusa, Wednesday called Charles (Lucky) Luciano "the king-pin" in U.S. dope trade which investigating senators said is ruled by the threat of death. The deported vice czar, described as running his sinister kingdom from Italy through gunman agents, took top billing in a television hearing before the senate crime committee. Siragusa reported on Luciano after investigations here and in Italy. Siragusa named Luciano among other "dons" or leaders in the Mafia, shadowy underworld organization, and said narcotics is the Mafia's "most profitable" line. He said that Luciano, deported in 1946 after serving part of a white slavery term in New York, has gunman agents who enforce his orders in the U.S. Luciano gets his profits by international messenger, Siragusa testified. He told of an affidavit by Luciano acknowledging "gifts" of "several thousand" dollars from the U.S. He said Italian police obtained the statement upon his request.

Greek Government May Quit In Protest

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Sophocles Venizelos hinted today his government might resign in protest over a refusal by Economic Co-operation Administration officials to approve an increase in wheat subsidy payments. The coalition government is under heavy farm pressure for an increase in the wheat subsidy payments. This could come only from E.C.A. funds.

Suggests Alexander Canada Army Head

OTTAWA (CP)—Field Marshal Alexander, the Governor-General, should be chief of Canada's army, the Commons was told Wednesday night. The suggestion came from Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temisouata), who said Defense Minister Claxton is the best defense minister in years and that he'd now like to see the best chief of staff in years take over.

Shall Babes Try Swim

LONDON (Reuters).—Russell Tongay, father of the Miami "water babies," said today he will let the British public decide whether the children should attempt to swim the 20-mile English Channel.

Awarded Degree

John C. Cairns, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cairns, 3255 Uplands Road, graduate of University of Toronto, has been awarded a Ph.D. degree in history by Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. Mr. Cairns last year was in Paris doing research work on French political history, the subject of his thesis.

British people would watch Bubba, 5, and his sister Kathy, 4, swim at beach resorts here and "if they feel it is wrong for the children to swim the Channel we shall not do the swim," he told a press conference.

The British Home Office, which deals with aliens in the country, forbade the children to attempt the gruelling swim from the English coast shortly after they arrived here last week.

Announcement of the children's attempt aroused considerable newspaper criticism here.

Germany, Japan, Atlantic Treaty Targets Of Reds In Korea War Ends

(Editor's Note: Late in May William L. Ryan, found the Russian press pointing to a spectacular move "in an attempt to force the Communist brand of peace." He noted "the pattern of Soviet strategic retreats in the past is being followed again." Last Saturday Russia's Jakob Malik came out for cease-fire talks. In the accompanying article Ryan sketches the new prospects.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(Associated Press News Analyst)

If the Soviet Union permits peace to come to Korea—even at the expense of Communist China—it will mean principally that the unending war of ideas has entered a new phase. The west will keep its guard up.

There is a strong conviction among observers of Soviet policies today that the Soviet Union is about to make its strategic retreat from Korea, for reasons of its own. To do this, the U.S.S.R. will have to back down from its previous stand.

The new front may open up shortly thereafter. The way apparently now is being paved. The west should keep in mind the dictum of Prime Minister Stalin: That tactics must always be subordinate to strategy. It should also keep in mind that the U.S.S.R. is a prisoner of its own rigid pattern of behavior, and thus it moves in the future can almost be charted.

The U.S.S.R. telegraphed its new Korea move—as long as a month ago. It became fairly obvious then that the Kremlin was getting ready for a grandstand play much in the manner of the previous retreat which called off the Berlin blockade when all-out war threatened.

Korea has dragged on too long for Soviet purposes. The U.S.S.R. can ill afford to strain its own economy any more by contributing to a small war which threatens to blow up into a big one. Thus the tactical retreat today for the strategic advantage of tomorrow.

What is the advantage the Soviet Union seeks? The rigidly-controlled official Russian press gives it away in spite of itself.

With Korea out of the way, the U.S.S.R. apparently plans to turn its biggest guns on Germany and Japan. It may be expected that the campaign will be: A peace treaty with a unified Germany; a peace treaty with Japan in which the U.S.S.R. could participate. The Kremlin now also may be expected to demand a treaty with Austria in which the west would be pressed to make concessions.

In such a move the U.S.S.R. would be on the offensive again. The Germans want a peace treaty. So do most Japanese and Austrians. But this does not mean that the U.S.S.R. has a tender regard for the wishes of these peoples. It has other aims in mind.

The Soviet Union wants desperately to break up the western unity exemplified by the North Atlantic Treaty. The Kremlin wants to create domestic pressures in the countries of the west to ease off armament expenditures. The Kremlin also wants the Americans out of Europe and out of Japan. It may have concluded that dumping the Chinese in Korea, where a gamble for a quick victory of a Communist expansion failed to pay off, is not too large a price to pay for the chance of achieving the longer aims.

Red Offensive. Would Follow Peace Failure

By HARRY FERGUSON
U.P. Foreign Editor

If all attempts to settle the Korean war by negotiations fail, what happens then?

The best guess now is that the Chinese Communists would throw their hardest punch yet. They would come down across the 38th Parallel with everything they could muster—artillery, tanks and planes followed by swarms of infantry. It would be their do-or-die throw of the dice for victory.

And if it failed? Then Korea likely would become a sort of no-man's land of the cold war. The Communists wouldn't be able to claim it and the United Nations would not be able to pull out their troops. The fighting might die down to the point where there would be little more than scattered skirmishes for weeks on end.

READY FOR FIGHT

There isn't much doubt that the Red army would take a licking no matter how strong a punch they threw. In the last six months the United Nations army has become a highly professional outfit. Man for man it probably is the best fighting force in the world today and much the best equipped. Backed up by the U.S. air force and with United Nations ships firmly in control of the Korean coasts, it is prepared to deal out punishment indefinitely.

The stalemate that would follow repulse of the big Red offensive might last for several months. Then the Truman-MacArthur supporters would argue that the last reason for refraining from all-out war now had vanished. Their program probably would be to issue a new call for troops from all U.N. nations involved in Korea and attempt to build up an army big enough to deal a knockout blow to the Red Chinese.

REDS BUILDING UP

The position of the Truman adherents probably would be determined by what was going on in other parts of the world.

There are already signs in Korea that the Chinese Reds are building up for a new offensive just in case. Some U.N. field commanders think they might strike in the next two weeks if the peace negotiations break down. Nor is it impossible that the Communists might attack while both sides still were trying to arrange a cease-fire. Whoever has the upper hand in a military sense also has the upper hand when the time comes to negotiate. Right now the U.N. enjoys that position. Next week things may be different.

Judgment Oct. 1 In Bakeries' Trial

CALGARY (CP).—Mr. Justice Boyd McBride, presiding at a special meeting of criminal assizes which lasted 99 days, Wednesday reserved judgment until October 1 in the trial of six Western baking concerns.

The bakegoods firms are charged with conspiracy unduly to prevent or lessen competition in the industry in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia between 1933 and 1950.

The six accused are the three McGavin companies of Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver; Canadian Bakeries Ltd., of Calgary; Weston Baking & Cake (Canada) Ltd., of Winnipeg; and Edmonton City Baking, a Weston company.

Why were the Premiums Increased?

1. To pay higher hospital labor costs.
2. To pay the increased cost of drugs and supplies.
3. To pay for the running of new hospital beds.

The money the Hospital Insurance Service gets from premiums, plus that obtained from the government (which amounts to nearly 30% of the total) is used to pay the hospital bills of the people of B.C. When the people's hospital bills are more than the money obtained from premiums and the government, the difference is called the B.C.H.I.S. "deficit". The deficits of the past two years have been caused by the increased cost of running the hospitals.

Hospitals are costing more to run because:

- Labor is costing more.
- Drugs and supplies are costing more.
- Additional money is needed to run new hospital beds.

Since the Hospital Insurance Service started 24 years ago, the wages of hospital employees have risen in proportion to other forms of employment. The increase in the past two years amounts to a yearly item of $4,800,000 and takes $10 of every premium.

The increased cost of living has hit the price of drugs and supplies. Drugs, medical and surgical supplies have increased by $700,000 a year, and food and other supplies by $800,000 a year. This totals $1,500,000 extra a year.

Every new hospital bed costs between $3,500 and $4,000 a year just to run it. 500 new hospital beds raises the total yearly cost of running the hospitals by about $1,800,000.

These three factors together are responsible for the deficits of the past two years.

In estimating how much the Service would pay to the hospitals this year, the hospitals' budgets were examined very closely and reduced by $750,000 to cut costs without cutting services. After this amount had been deducted, it was still obvious that this year's hospital costs would be $2,811,000 higher than last year's. This is because:

- $1,380,000 more is needed to run new hospital beds.
- $845,000 more is needed to pay increased hospital labor costs.
- $286,000 more is needed to pay increases in drugs and supplies.
- $200,000 more is needed for miscellaneous increases.

Last year, there was a $1,500,000 deficit which was paid by the government. Therefore, this year an increase of $1,500,000 is necessary, plus the extra $2,811,000 needed to meet the increased hospital costs. This makes a total of $4,311,000 needed this year, over and above what was received last year. To meet this, premiums were increased by 75c a month and co-insurance started (co-insurance will be explained next week).

The original premiums could not be stretched to meet these increased costs any more than a 1948 pay cheque would cover today's cost of living.

The government does not state that the present method of financing the Hospital Insurance plan is permanent, but states that it was absolutely necessary to raise the premiums by 75c a month in order to carry on a plan which is proving to be a benefit to the people, the hospitals, and the municipalities of the province.

Next week, we will give you the facts on "Why was co-insurance started?"

Be sure to read these messages. They deal with your Hospital Insurance plan—a plan which has already paid over $40,000,000 for more than 500,000 hospital cases, and is providing benefits for thousands more each month.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

Robert Abel, able and energetic president of the Western International League would much rather enjoy the scenery than discuss baseball, but when he does talk baseball, he makes sense. In town Wednesday for what is described as a routine visit, even though it happens to coincide with the recent dismissal of Dick Barrett, who must be the first personality since Happy Chandler to contest a by-election for which he hasn't been nominated, Abel puts the presidential finger on two reasons for the decline in attendance in minor professional baseball today.

"First," says Bob, "I don't know how it affects you people up here, but we are virtually at war in the United States."

"That and the high cost of living, which undoubtedly is the outcome of our present international position in regard to the troubled state of the world today, means just one thing."

"It means that the average Joe, making $50, $60 or $70 a week, and with a family of one or two children, can't afford to attend baseball."

Admitting that attendance was down in four of the W.I.L. cities—Victoria, Tacoma, Yakima and Wenatchee, and holding its own or up in Tri-City, Salem, Spokane and Vancouver, he nevertheless sees little likelihood of any of the clubs folding or being sold before the season's end.

"Tacoma is probably in the most precarious position of anyone," he said, "but I can't see Bill Starr of San Diego, who owns the Tigers, selling out, just for the sake of disposing of the franchise."

Gazing into the crystal ball

Toying with a cigarette, as he watched small craft sail idly by in the bay beyond the suburban retreat in which he dined, Abel admitted he was definitely interested in the possibility of having Edmonton and Calgary as member clubs in the W.I.L. in the future.

When it was pointed out that both Alberta towns are sports conscious communities, and would probably welcome the opportunity to enter the W.I.L., he concurred, at the same time outlining what he thought would be the ideal set-up for their inclusion in the league.

"The proximity of Salem to Portland and Tacoma to Seattle, and the obvious drain of baseball fans from the two W.I.L. cities to the Coast League parks makes Salem and Tacoma the weakest links in our chain."

"This ever present problem—and for $2.50 (return bus fare included) a Tacoma can see the Rainiers play in Seattle—plus the inroads of television on baseball attendance, not in the north-west alone, but throughout the country, is something that must be considered."

Tacoma Not Long For W.I.L.

Estimating that there are 2,500 television receiving sets in Tacoma alone, representing a considerable outlay, plus the fact that the Rainiers televise three home games a week, and that there are regular bus excursions to Sicks Stadium from Tacoma, Abel virtually forecast the end of Tacoma as a W.I.L. baseball town.

Commenting further on this possibility, and admitting he knew the high cost of operating a baseball club was becoming almost prohibitive—the league salary limit of $4,000 a month notwithstanding, and not adhered to—Abel expressed the view that if Edmonton and Calgary were interested in securing W.I.L. franchises, the obvious clubs to be dropped would be Salem and Tacoma. "However, it isn't likely that these franchises would go cheaply," he said, "if they go at all. Salem is up on attendance this year and appears headed for a successful season."

Supplying The Necessary Lift

Actually if Edmonton and Calgary were admitted to the W.I.L., traveling expenses would be no more a burden on majority of clubs than at the present as Calgary is something in the neighborhood of 500 miles from Spokane, the same distance as Salem is from the inland empire.

With Edmonton in almost the same position as Dallas, Texas, once was as the heart of the oil empire, it is quite conceivable that either or both Calgary and Edmonton could draw close to 200,000 a season. Amateur games sometimes draw 34,000 and blessed with tremendous civic pride, both Calgary and Edmonton could be expected to support their clubs to the hilt as they have done in hockey and football.

That may be the answer to dwindling attendances and the shaky financial structure of some clubs in the W.I.L. At least Abel admitted he was going to investigate such possibilities. And in the not too distant future.

Forstrom Wins Fifth Week Of Ladder Derby

Chris Forstrom not only won the fifth week's competition in the V.S.I.A.A. ladder derby but his first place 30-pounder also got him a silver button.

B. Warnock took the second prize rung with a 23-pounder. Tom Alexander, who has been on the ladder like a busy fireman, placed third with a 17-pound 8-ounce fish. Tom qualified for the masters ladder in the second week and took first prize in the fourth week with a fish weighing 33 pounds 12 ounces.

P. F. Francis has been placed on the ladder of the third week, replacing J. Gilbert who has been disqualified.

W. Winter won the hidden prize with a 7-pound 12-ounce fish.

Ladder qualifiers follow:

Chris Forstrom 30 lbs. 0; B. Warnock 23 lbs. 0; Tom Alexander 17 lbs. 8; L. L. Robb 16 lbs. 0; Jack Kennedy 15 lbs. 0; W. Winter 7 lbs. 12; D. Too Much Enthusiasm, Says Veeck

CHICAGO (UP)—Bill Veeck warned St. Louis Browns stockholders today that their "enthusiasm" over his plans to buy and rejuvenate the team may upset the whole deal.

Veeck, who has to purchase about 20,000 more shares by July 4, said the stock holders want to get in on the venture and won't sell to him.

"Everybody's too enthusiastic about it," he moaned. "They all say 'Come on, we'll go with you.' But that's no good."

"Proxies on the stock won't do me any good. I have to buy it to complete the deal and the stockholders are telling me, 'Well, we'll trade our stock for some new stock in your outfit.'"

Reynolds Picks Up Strain For Yanks

The hottest hurler in the majors today is Allie Reynolds, the part-Indian right-hander who toils for New York Yankees.

The husky Cree last night racked up his third straight shutout as he whipped the Washington Senators 2-0 in five hits.

The victory plus Detroit's 3-2 win over Chicago enabled the Yankees to climb within one game of the American League-leading White Sox. The third-place Boston Red Sox also closed in with a 6-5 victory over Philadelphia's Athletics and now are three games off the pace.

Brooklyn's National League-leading Dodgers crushed New York Giants 10-4 to widen their margin to six games over their inter-borough rivals. St. Louis Cardinals walloped Chicago Cubs 14-2 and Cincinnati edged out Pittsburgh 2-1.

Cleveland shellacked St. Louis Browns 8-1. Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils were rained out.

The 32-year-old Reynolds was in trouble only in the fifth when Gene Verbe slammed a three-bagger with one out. Allie preserved his shutout by getting Don Johnson to fly to short right and Gil Coan to ground out.

GREAT RECORD

Reynolds in registering his eighth win against four defeats, hasn't allowed a run in his last 28 2/3 innings and hasn't issued a base on balls in 24 2/3 innings.

Some nifty relief pitching by Virgil Trucks paced the way for the Tigers' 3-2 win over the White Sox. Trucks replaced Ted Gray in the seventh. Harry Dorsh was the loser.

Luke Easter banded in four runs with a homer and two singles to help the Indians hand the last-place Browns their eighth successive loss. Mike Garcia allowed only five hits to register his seventh win.

Holder Still Unbeaten In W.I.L. Play

TACOMA (UP)—No seeker of "soft spots" Spokane's Jim Holder stopped the league-leading Vancouver Capilanos twice during the week ending Sunday for his eighth and ninth victories without a defeat to maintain his Western International League pitching leadership.

Holder's pair of wins saved Spokane from disaster in an eight-game stand against Vancouver, incidentally, since the Indians lost the other six contests.

According to figures released from league president Robert B. Abel's office, the league's big winner-and-runner-up in the percentage column is Vancouver's Bob Snyder at 15-2 with two victories at Spokane's expense during the week. Another Vancouver elbow, Pete Hernandez, is third at 6-1. Hernandez achieved his sixth success by hurling a one-hitter against Spokane Sunday night.

The strike-out leadership remained wrapped in the left arm of Wenatchee's Tom Breisling, despite the fact he failed to add to his total of 103 in one appearance during the week. His closest pursuit was far behind, however, with Jim Propst of Victoria and Bob Schulte of Tacoma, another pair of southpaws, next in line with 78 and 66, respectively. Al Treichel, Wenatchee right-hander, was fourth with 65.

Tied for the lead in walks with 89 apiece were Schulte and John Marshall, right-hander who recently traded a Victoria uniform for Spokane livery.

The leaders follow:

Murphy Scores Smashing Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Irish Bobby Murphy, the fighting ex-sailor with the golden touch in his leather mitts, was almost in sight of his goal today—a shot at the light-heavyweight title—following his smashing seven-round technical knock-out of Jake LaMotta.

The smiling, red-haired slugger, boxing's latest box-office sensation and the pugilist hit of television, set the stage for a crack at champion Joey Maxim by battering and slicing the Bronx bull's swarthy features before 21,257 roaring fans at Yankee Stadium last night. Gross gate was $116,690.

In addition some 28,650 spectators witnessed the theatre-drama in 11 theatres in eight cities. There was no TV or radio.

Today Irish Bobby and co-managers Irving Cohen and Travis Hatfield will sit down with Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, and Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, to discuss a date for a Murphy-Maxim title scrap in New York. Kearns wants Murphy because "he's the guy who will pack them in."

"I'm ready for it," said the elated Murphy. "I've got a return fight with Joey Rindone (Murphy lost on a foul to Rindone April 16) in Boston July 23. After that, Maxim. He's the guy I want. I've been dreaming about that title for a long time."

"Boy, but that LaMotta is tough, though," said the San Diego scrapper.

Collier added that the "machine" of President William Tubman has harassed Tve.

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasall

A gardener, who wishes to acquire a greater knowledge of garden pests and their control, requests a simplified introduction to the study of insects. While this is a large order for a small column, we may be able to give a little assistance.

All animals are divided into two groups; vertebrates, having a backbone, and invertebrates, those without. Insects are in the latter class, which is divided into sub-groups called phyla (plural), the animals in each phylum having common characteristics.

Insects are a division of phylum Arthropods, which contains those with segmented bodies, many-jointed legs and a body covering of chitin (the substance which forms our fingernails) which sometimes hardens into an armour. The division is headed Insecta or Hexapods (six legs) and includes all true insects such as moths, bees, butterflies, ants, wasps, flies, aphids, earwigs, beetles and grasshoppers.

While grasshoppers are unlike aphids, and bees unlike moths, each possesses the same general characteristics, and for ease of naming, the class is divided into orders according to differences in mouth parts; number of wings; and types of antennae (feelers). The body of an insect is divided into three parts—head, thorax and abdomen. The thorax (middle section) is composed of three segments, carrying three pairs of legs and two pairs of wings; the abdomen may have from five to twelve segments.

Oxygen is obtained through spiracles (openings) along the sides of both abdomen and thorax. We should note this point because the control of many insects is obtained by clogging these openings with poisonous dust.

The abdomen of females of some orders terminates in an ovipositor, or egg guide, with which eggs may be deposited below soil level or within the tissues of plants or animals.

The life cycles of insects must be known if controls are to be effective, therefore the three ways in which most insects reproduce will be the subject for tomorrow.

West Indies Buys Canada Goods

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain is going to grant the British West Indies extra dollars to buy more goods from Canada, William Alexander Bustamante said Wednesday.

The tall, one-time revolutionary, heading an eight-man B.W.I. trade delegation here, made that disclosure as he stepped from a plane after a trans-Atlantic hop from London.

Winnipeg Flier Dies In Crash In England

WATERBEACH, Cambridge, Eng. (CP)—Squad. Ldr. John H. Whishaw Yates, 34, D.F.C., of Winnipeg, was killed in a plane crash early today.

His R.A.F. Meteor dived into a field shortly after taking off from the Waterbeach airfield.

FORCED FEEDING

The Romans started the custom of forcibly feeding geese to enlarge their livers. A goose that is fed by force every few hours soon develops a liver of several pounds' weight.

Singer Big Gun

Paced by the heavy clouting of Art Singer, 129 Gunners thumped Naval Reserve, 14-2, in a Senior "C" softball game at Beacon Hill last night. Singer picked up a single, double and triple.

CAROLS VS. HYMNS

Christmas carols became more popular than Christmas hymns before the 12th century. Early Christmas hymns were too theological and, therefore, too hard for the common people to understand.

Whatshan Project Adds 33,000 H.P. To Total Power Generation In B.C.

British Columbia today threw the switch heralding a start on a vast increase in hydro-electric power.

Lands Minister E. T. Kenney officially opened the B.C. Power Commission's new $6,700,000 Whatshan Lake project, supplying 33,000 horsepower to the Okanagan valley. Eventually, it will produce 66,000 horsepower.

Whatshan Lake's water was diverted through the heart of a mountain to drop from a 710-foot head to a powerhouse on the shore of lower Arrow Lake. It took hard-rock miners 19 months to punch two and a half miles of shafts and tunnels through the mountain.

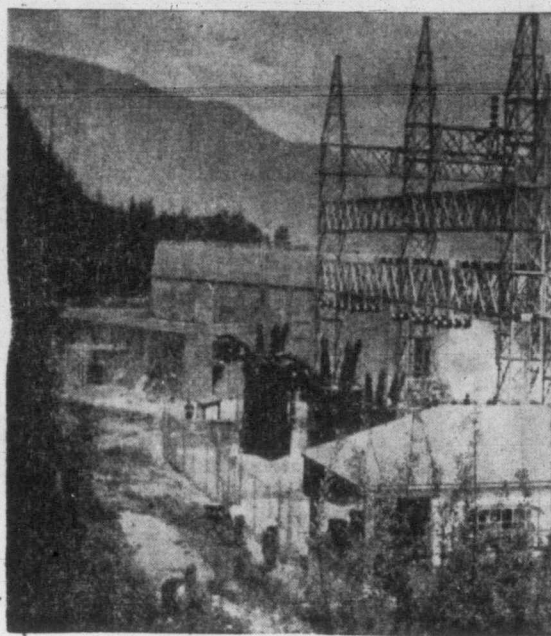

But Whatshan is dwarfed by other projects already under way, about to start, or under survey. There is a potential of 11,000,000 horsepower in British Columbia's rivers, enough to supply nearly all Canada's power needs today. But only 1,284,000 horsepower have been harnessed.

In the next few years, British Columbia will more than double and possibly triple her hydro-electric output.

Biggest project being undertaken today is the Aluminum Company of Canada's plan to develop 1,500,000 horsepower by diverting the flow of rivers in the northern Tweedsmuir Park watershed from east to west by driving a tunnel through the Coast Range.

Mr. Pile Sufferer

What a vast difference there is in the modern way to treat Piles. The necessity of removing the real cause is only plain common sense. The new Pylone treatment is a liquid taken by mouth goes direct to the inside cause. Special gums, plant extracts that help nature rebuild those delicate tissues. Pylone Pile Treatment is science's answer. It gets you satisfactory results with a one bottle trial or price refunded at once. At all modern druggists.

Boosting power from 6,900 to 138,000 volts.

Engineers are surveying the possibilities of other huge projects. It is estimated a dam at Moran on the Fraser River could supply 1,500,000 horsepower, which would be the biggest single power unit in the world.

Farther north on the Fraser, near Quesnel, another dam could supply another 300,000 horsepower.

Palm oil, from the fruit clusters gathered by natives of darkest Africa, is important in the manufacture of tin plate.

STAID RESORT KILLS BLONDIE

WHITLEY, Eng. (Reuters) — "Blondie," the curvaceous pin-up girl who graces the front page of this little seaside town's official guide, is to be replaced by a pair of seagulls.

A number of boarding house keepers complained the picture was "not decorous enough" for a booklet advertising the attractions of a family resort.

Town council voted unanimously to erase "Blondie."

Women For Navy

OTTAWA (CP) — Recruiting for women for the naval reserves will start "at a very early date," Defense Minister Claxton said Wednesday.

The regular R.C.A.F. and the reserve army already are recruiting women.

TO KEEP TAB ON TADS

Sew Tabs On Clothing, Say Police

With about 20 youngsters getting lost from their homes in Greater Victoria every month, and more expected now that summer holidays are on, police today made some suggestions for parents.

In the city alone police handle from eight to 12 such cases each month.

"As soon as a youngster is known to be missing parents should call the police," Chief John Blackstock said. "It is surprising how often parents search a neighborhood desperately before calling us, only to find the child has been at the police station in perfect safety for some time. Calling police right away will often save considerable anxiety."

Oak Bay Chief H. F. G. Reston said tabs sewn to clothing carrying the child's name, address, and telephone number would be a big help.

"We have to find two or three lost kiddies every week," he said. "Every now and then we find one with his name and phone number stitched to his clothing, and it certainly saves everyone trouble."

Saanich has a regular flow of lost children who are usually returned promptly, according to Chief J. Bull.

In Esquimalt police are bothered very little by lost children, Chief Gilbert Stancombe reported.

"We often go through the summer without a report," he said. "Most of the youngsters are away at camp, we find."

Hold-Up Attempted

NEW YORK (AP) — Daniel N. d'Allesandro, 46, a Camden, N.J., grocery clerk, accused of trying to hold up a mid-Manhattan bank teller with a toy gun Wednesday, was quoted as saying he needed money to buy gas for his new car. Police said d'Allesandro walked into a Chemical Bank and Trust Company branch, shoved a $5 cheque into the teller's cage with an attached note reading: "This is a stickup. Give me some of your money."

"Would Not Take $1,000

For What Emerald Oil Has Done For Me" Writes Florida Lady

"The Ecema on my hips is entirely gone," writes Mrs. R. S. R. Kissimmee, Florida. "I would not take one thousand dollars for what Emerald Oil has done for me. Will never be without it again and will cheerfully recommend it to anyone suffering with Ecema."

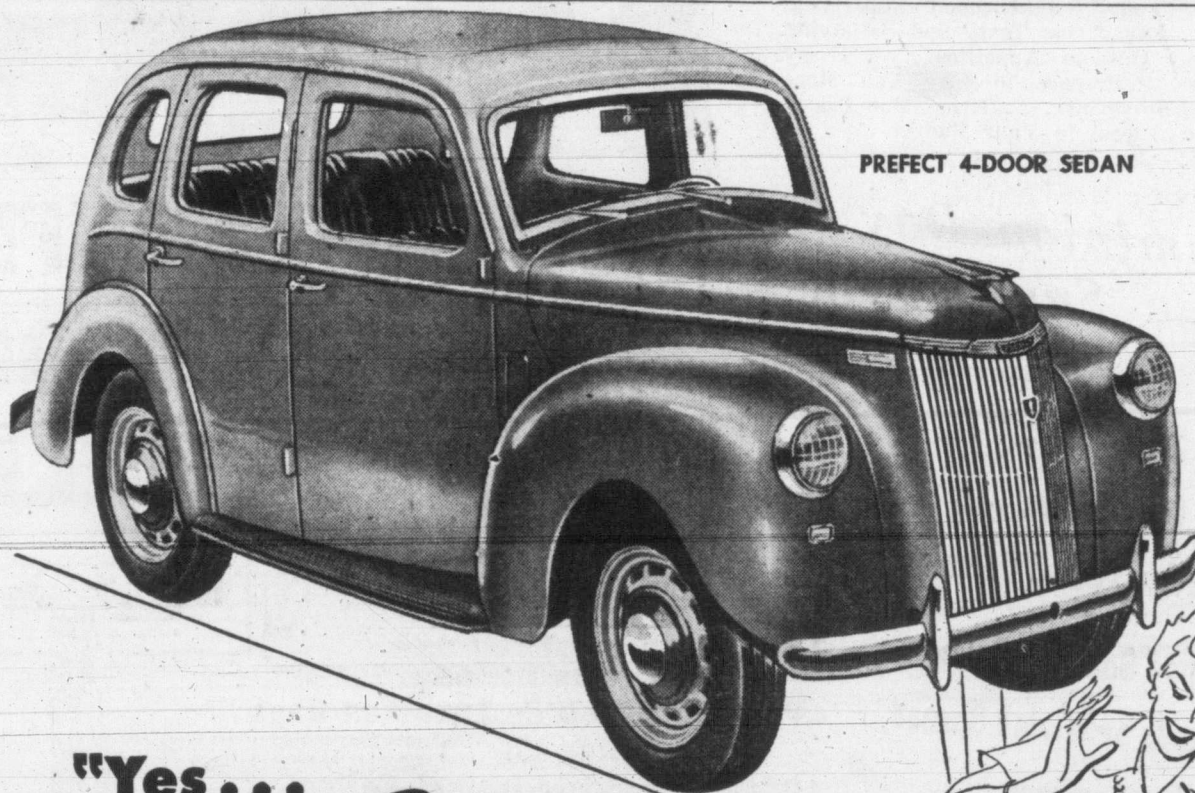

It is in just such tough cases of long standing that Emerald Oil has proved its worth. It just has to be good. If a bad skin condition troubles you, don't hesitate or worry any longer—just get a small bottle of Emerald Oil and prove for yourself how good it is. On sale wherever drugs are sold.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Disappointments Fail To Upset Lovely Jean Simmons

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's lucky Jean Simmons is the cool, calm type. Otherwise she might blow her top because:

Her husband of a few months, Stewart Granger, has been sent to all parts of U.S. and Europe for film locations.

Her place of employment switched continents without her consent to the change.

She has been waiting since last September to begin a picture.

Despite these occurrences, Miss Simmons remains as cool as a May afternoon in her native London. About her much-interrupted honeymoon, she shrugged: "Oh, Jimmy (Granger's real name is James Stewart) hasn't been gone as long as it seems. It's just the number of trips that makes it seem so long."

Actually, he has been sent to Sun Valley, Idaho, for a film location, then to Palermo, Rome and other Italian locales for another. Next week he leaves for Jackson Hole, Wyo., for more

Former Broadway Idol, David Warfield, Dies

NEW YORK (UP) — David Warfield, 84, an old-time Broadway matinee idol, died Wednesday night.

He accumulated a million-dollar fortune by investing the money he earned starring in five great stage plays in a partnership with an obscure furrier named Mark Loew. They bought a corner penny arcade that mushroomed into a theatrical empire of motion picture theatres.

Would Talk To Rita

TEL AVIV (AP) — Rita Hayworth's lawyer suggested today that she meet with him and Charles Toren lawyer for Prince Aly Khan, to talk about Rita's divorce from the prince. Bartley Crum made the suggestion in a telephone call to Rita at Glenbrook, Nev. Rita has taken up residence there to obtain a divorce. Her baby, Yasmin, is with her.

SKELTON IN EMERGENCY ACT

LYON, France (Reuters) — Comedian Red Skelton played an impromptu performance to anxious passengers aboard a disabled airliner last night. The plane was forced down on an airfield near here when two engines cut out. The plane, a four-engined British Overseas Airways craft on the East Africa-London route, had left Rome earlier with 40 passengers. It landed safely.

Rich Pitchblende Vein Discovered In Colorado

Entire Eastern Rocky Mountain Area Being Explored For Further Atomic Ore Deposits

By STEWART W. RAMSEY

DENVER (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has discovered a vein of pitchblende, the richest type of uranium ore, near Fort Collins, Colo., it was revealed today.

It is systematically exploring the entire eastern Rocky Mountain area for uranium, the mineral used to make atomic bombs.

Thomas T. Anderson, acting regional A.E.C. director, said it is too early to tell whether the new find would provide a great new source of uranium.

"We are very optimistic for the success of the entire front range project," he said. "But we cannot say positively yet how rich the deposits actually are."

Anderson said the vein of pitchblende, one form of uranium oxide, is on private land 45 miles northwest of Fort Collins. He said the vein has been tested and found true, and that the A.E.C. geologists are in the process of developing it.

Pitchblende has been known to exist in the west for many years. The largest known deposit of pitchblende in the free world is in the fabulously rich mines of the Belgian Congo, from which the United States reportedly derives most of its uranium.

Officials would not estimate whether the new pitchblende find would rival the Belgian Congo deposits, but did not deny the possibility.

PHILOSOPHER'S STONE TRICK SWITCHED UP

LONDON (Reuters)—Police today hunted a cunning thief who stole a £2,000 gold brick and put an ordinary chimney brick in its place in a shipment of gold bound for South Africa.

The bullion shipment left London by air May 20, consigned by a London firm to a firm in South Africa.

The clay brick was found among the gold bricks on arrival in South Africa.

11 BRITISH IN KOREA ON TRIAL

Refused To Accept Punishment

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP)—Eleven British soldiers will go on trial before a court martial tomorrow, charged with an "alleged refusal to obey an order related to a parade for training purposes."

The soldiers are members of the 1st Battalion, Royal Northumberland Fusiliers.

In London, the Daily Mail says the arrests followed the return of 10 men, led by a subaltern (lieutenant) from an eight-hour daylight patrol. The men were told by their company commander that the patrol had been carried out unsatisfactorily and as punishment, ordered them to do two hours' duty setting up barbed wire fences around the company position. The 10 refused the punishment duty.

By ART STOTT

In our living-room we used to have a print of Millet's "Man With the Hoe." It was a dismal sort of picture—no life or freshness to it—though the poem Edwin Markham wrote about it had deep social significance:

"Bowed with the weight of centuries he leans
Upon his hoe and gazes on the ground,
The emptiness of ages in his face
And on his back—the burden of the world."

An irreverent friend used to come into the room, look at the picture and ask:

"Do you think that prehistoric golfer of yours is ever going to get out of the rough?" You'd explain the importance of the picture to him and he'd look impressed. The next time he came in, he'd ask: "Do you think that fella's getting ready to swing, or do you think he's just looking for his ball?"

Stott

EVENTUALLY we took down the Man with the Hoe. He wasn't commanding the proper respect and we didn't think he should be subjected to the ribaldry the picture provoked. But Millet had scored his point. He'd put a serious dent in those high-sounding phrases about the dignity of toil and the majesty of labor. There wasn't much dignity, and no majesty at all, in the poor old guy hunched over his wooden club with the iron cross-blade at the bottom of it.

The psychology didn't seem to fit into the current thought of the age—an era of mechanical inventiveness in which back-breaking, soul-corroding drudgery seemed to be merely a symbol of medieval backwardness.

We've thought, since then, that we probably should put old Millet back on the wall just to remind the youngsters that there is such a thing as work, and that they can't be Aesop's Grasshopper all their lives.

THERE ISN'T MUCH point in telling the kids that during our fathers' time children went to work, part-time at the mills or were apprenticed, when they were about 10 years old. Child labor isn't the objective. It's the horrible example. But maybe it's important to give a little emphasis to the fact that some work has to be done by everybody. A youngster can't just go to grade school, to high school, to college, to university and then graduate to an old-age pension. Some where in there, work is bound to raise its ugly head.

And to some of us old fuddies, it seems a bit important to see that children don't emerge onto the labor market with the idea that they can claim high salaries right from the start. A lot of boys acquired a peculiar outlook on life because they were able to do that during the war years.

THERE'S THE classical example of the boy who got tired of Grade 5 after his first three years in it and went to work at the shipyard, where he pulled down a bigger pay cheque than his teacher. When the shipyard started to shake out some of its less-skilled help, he returned to the labor market with a Grade 5 education and a unique idea of his value to the productive forces of Canada.

When you figure it out, you'll probably come to the conclusion that berry-picking provides a desirable introduction to work. A youngster in his or her early teens can do it. The job isn't soft. A kid has to pick, usually under a hot sun, for his or her money. And he or she is paid for production—not for effort, or attitude. A dollar, paid by a berry-farmer to a hot and tired youngster for so many boxes of berries, has a little more substance to it than a dollar flicked from the old man's pocket book for spending money.

EARNED IN THE fields, a dollar has a more fully understood value. To acquire it, a kid has to go over a large section of ground—not as far today as in his father's time—and to pick a fair amount of fruit. That dollar doesn't blow away quite so quickly in town.

A milkshake at the soda fountain represents something more than the small change a youngster weeded from the old man. It becomes the end product of a little work.

The kid may think there ought to be an easier way of making a buck—and there is. But if it's honestly come by, that easier buck is attained by developing skill, by a little more study in school and a higher academic rating, or by the application of the brain as well as the body to mechanical and technical courses.

IT ISN'T TRUE to say that work never hurt anybody. The Man with the Hoe worked too hard and suffered from it. But there's a happy medium. And in work there are certain muscle-building factors, mental, moral and physical, that aren't found in a quick buck indulgently or illegally acquired.

SWIMMING AT ROSS BAY WILL REMAIN UNDER BAN

Last year's ban on swimming at Ross Bay beach and Dallas Road waterfront from St. Charles to Howe Streets is expected to remain in effect this year, Elwood S. Gropp, chief sanitary inspector for the city, said today.

Bacteria count of the water did not measure up to city standards, he said. Conditions indicate similar pollution this year.

Suggestions for chlorination of water and extension of the sewer with filter beds have been made but cost might be prohibitive.

Gonzales beach is approved for swimming.

Drought-Hit Farmers Look To Dominion Gov't.

Saanich area farmers, and other southern island agriculturists, bowed their heads again today to a turquoise sky and blazing sun . . . and no sign of rain to break the long drought that has persisted with few breaks since early spring.

Making rain by artificial means—their only hope to bring rain to the Saanich peninsula in time to save their crops—has apparently been dashed by the high cost of hiring a rainmaker.

Fee of one commercial rainmaker from the State of Washington was quoted at $37,000 for a month. There was no guarantee with it that rain or showers would be produced in appreciable quantities.

The provincial government also dashed their hopes for an irrigation system within the next few years by announcing it was up to the farmers to foot the bill to improve the water supply in the dry areas of Saanich.

Farmers claim the financial burden would be too heavy.

There was still a glimmer of hope, however . . . the federal government.

If the dominion government was prepared to pay the cost of connecting the Gorge and Esquimalt harbor—a project of little value from a utility point of view, why should it not help out in bringing an irrigation system to Saanich, farmers said.

While loss of crops were not expected to affect seriously food prices here, many Saanich farmers are facing heavy losses which may exceed the $400,000 mark if the drought continues for another two weeks or more.

Ontario To Return
H.M.C.S. Ontario will arrive at Esquimalt harbor at 11:30 Friday, concluding a training cruise in northern B.C. waters.

A Vancouver cattle buyer, John M. Jensen, who plans to open a special store for sale of horsemeat in Vancouver, has indicated he might also try to sell horsemeat here.

Any licensed butcher shop in Victoria can sell government-inspected horsemeat without permission of the city license inspector or health department, it was learned today.

No Price Hike For Juke Box

It looks like Victorians will be spared a rise in the high cost of playing juke boxes.

The Musical Network Ltd. announced today that it is not contemplating any boost in the charge the prices to play records in juke boxes, which are now being raised throughout the United States.

The firm said the prices should be raised in view of increase costs for records. "But we don't think such a move would prove popular in Victoria at the moment," said an official. "We don't intend to change prices of juke boxes."

In the United States it costs 10 cents a record or three-for-a-quarter to play juke boxes.

'Use Prince Robert House Site As New Parking Lot'

Ald. Skillings Urges Tenders Be Called Soon For Demolition

Call for action on a proposal that Prince Robert House be demolished and the site used as a metered parking lot was sounded by Ald. Waldo Skillings at a City Council finance committee meeting today.

He urged tenders be called for demolition. City Manager Cecil Wyatt suggested the matter be studied by the council's transportation committee. He said information was being obtained by Robert Doble, head of the city's traffic survey section, regarding disposal of the brick in the building.

"It's going to take time. I'd rather see action," replied Ald. Skillings, promising an early report from his committee.

He recommended traffic lanes for one, two and four-hour parking, with ordinary meter patrol. Neither Mayor Percy George nor Ald. Frank Mulliner favored a municipally-owned parking lot. The mayor stated interest had already been shown by private enterprise in the site.

"If we set it up and anything goes wrong, it's the taxpayer who has to pay," said Mayor George.

The committee was advised by the mayor that Woodward's are no longer interested in Prince Robert House site, following the turning down of their offer of $48,000.

"The obstructionists did a good job," said Ald. Mulliner. "Now we have no $50,000 and no taxes on the place."

He referred to the fact that finance committee recommended the sale, but City Council felt more money could be obtained by advertising for tenders again. No bids were received.

Commercial Fish Catch Is Light

Commercial fishing off the west coast of Vancouver Island has been light, fishermen reported today. Northwesterly winds for the past three weeks have kept small fishing boats hugging the shore. Most of the large fishing fleet is in the Ucluelet and Kyquoot area of the island, where the fish are.

The season's lean catch was reflected today when the Fishermen's Co-operative Association's packer "Co-operator 4" landed at the Co-op wharf at 10 this morning. She was carrying 51,000 pounds of spring salmon, about half the normal load for this time of year, Co-op foreman Jimmy Gow said.

"We should be getting about 100 to 125,000 pounds at this time of year," he added.

Of today's load, 4,000 pounds will go on the local fresh fish market, while the rest will be shipped to the Co-op's Vancouver plant.

Terms Of Offer To Seamen Given

This offer from the Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, and Union Steamships is being voted on by the seamen.

INEZ McLEOD

Beauty Queen Excited Over B.C. Contest

"I'm most excited and I'm looking forward to the event," said lovely 18-year-old Inez McLeod, 2070 Oak Bay Avenue, when informed today she has been chosen to represent Victoria at the Pacific National Exhibition beauty contest to be held in Vancouver Aug. 22 to 25.

Miss McLeod, a dental nurse and a member of Victoria's drill team, who won the B.C. Products Fair beauty contest earlier in the year, was nominated to represent the city at a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night.

She will compete against girls from all parts of the province at the national exhibition. The B.C. Junior Chambers of Commerce are in charge of the beauty contest.

At the exhibition Miss McLeod will be known as "Miss Victoria." Her expenses will be paid for her during her four-day stay in Vancouver.

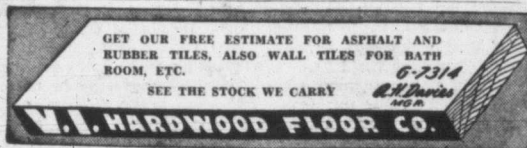

Premier, Wife Meet Pioneers

SIDNEY—More than 50 distinguished pioneers, including Mrs. W. Brethour, 93, of Victoria, enjoyed informal chats with Premier Byron Johnson and Mrs. Johnson at the Memorial Park here Wednesday afternoon.

The afternoon fete and an evening banquet concluded the two-day Diamond Jubilee celebrations which opened Tuesday. Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A., assisted in making the visitors welcome.

More than 1,900 persons attended. Milling with the crowds were officers and men of the training ships Antigonish, Crusader and Beacon Hill, which anchored off Sidney harbor.

July 1, Warm Day Or No
Mabel Will Cook With Gas

By PENNY SAVER

Hurray! July 1st week-end means holiday for all... or, Mabel dear, if you don't make Junior cease with the yelling I'm going to bury him in the sand again!

Ah yes! Our little family of Slapsaddles will pack, bag, baggage and dog-head and head for the beach. It's one holiday in the year when Sam brings himself to point-of-enjoying salt, sand and sandwiches!

In years past, Mabel has always depended on good Sam to start a little beach fire. He starts collecting kindling sticks at 8.45 a.m. ... 15 minutes after they've arrived at the beach ... and nigh on to sundown, with three kinds of slivers in every toe, he's gathered sufficient material for a six-day wiener roast. But Mabel says tonight to her fine husband for she understands everyone has a different interpretation of an outing. If there's ever a log that remains placed in the same position when they leave, as it did when Sam arrived, Mabel figures her boy is ill!

This year it's going to be different. Of course, Sam will have his bit of timbering to do but he can bury or stack it, as he pleases. Mabel's going to use her new gas burner.

Sum of $7.95 is the amount she paid for the little number that offers luxury for the chief-in-charge of food preparation. It stands about 7 or 8 inches high and is easily packed away in the family auto ... the burner, that is!

There's another little number she saw and told me about. It's compact and practical for its $9.95 price.

The single burner is tucked away in a cylinder-shaped metal container and looks all the world like a metal coffee maker!

Once you remove the lid it can, with addition of separate handle enclosed in the set, be used as a saucepan. The little burner itself burns white gas fuel and is easily operated.

Just as popular this year as last, are the double burner sets with tank for fuel, folding lid and sides to protect flame against sudden gusts of wind, that are selling at $13.95. The metal legs can be folded up and over the lid to serve as a "lock" for the suitcase-like burner.

They tell me there'll be a handsome supply of tangerine juice available for this week-end. Khow everyone will be glad to have a cool drink on hand or in hand, as the case may be, and the 2 for 25 cent tins will fill the bill.

MARY HAWORTH

Drinking Man Failed To Keep Appointment
With Wife; She Went Back To Her Parents

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I was 22 and just out of the army, and Jean was 19, when we got married in 1946. We eloped, and although Jean's family—consisting of mother, stepfather and the old maid aunt—didn't approve the haste, they accepted us as newlyweds. They gave us household equipment and cash gifts; but we started in debt, and did little to help ourselves.

Within two years we had two children and I had switched jobs, from inside to outside selling, which necessitated a new model car, all of which put us further in debt. Jean's mother and aunt provided clothing for her and the children. And about this time I started gambling and borrowing money; and when my wife found out, she raised Cain and begged me to stop. I promised I would, but I didn't; and I felt like a skunk and began to drink and bickering mounted at home.

Finally one day when I was to meet Jean at her mother's after work, I didn't show up; I was drinking. The next morning Jean came to my apartment, in tears, to collect her things; and said she had decided to stay with her mother until I had found myself.

HE JOINED ARMY
IN BITTER MOOD

On Sundays I would pick up the children; and once I asked Jean how long this could continue. She couldn't tell me, so I said bitterly, "Maybe I'd do better in the army." She replied, "Maybe," and some weeks later I joined a National Guard outfit that was leaving. That was seven months ago. We've been writing, and the letters began to melt a little, so I came home on leave thinking things might be on the mend. But Jean's family is against me; and won't let her go out with me, though I feel she still loves me. I am miserable. I have no promise of any future with Jean. When I tell her I love her and ask how she feels, she says "I don't know," through tears held back. I have a responsible job in the army and am doing well. Jean gets enough money from me to pay the bills, clothes herself and the children and put some in the savings bank. But where do we go from here? And what am I to do?—E.G.

Cabinet Minister
To Open Exhibition

Hon. W. T. Straith, minister of education, will open the 7th annual exhibition of hand-weaving to be held under auspices of Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild in Duke of Kent room, Empress Hotel, July 5, 6 and 7, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Reporting to the June meeting of the guild, convener Mrs. Sydney Pickles also announced that 11 other guilds in Canada will exhibit work. Mrs. F. Yeomans has charge of the time-table for those assisting at the exhibition and for those demonstrating weaving and spinning, card and inkle loom weaving.

Members are supplying mats and china for the decorated table setting, which will be a major attraction.

The guild voted a donation to Saanich Agricultural Society for use as prize money for hand-weaving classes at the fall fair. Mrs. L. H. Bell, guest speaker, gave an account of founding of the wheel chair centre in Winnipeg for assistance of polio and paralytic victims. President Mrs. Hazel Hodson thanked the speaker.

Versatile Blouse Helps
You To Defy Summer Heat

By DAWN VAN NORMAN

Lace-trimmed Lady Esquire model.

A blouse is half a dress... in fact, it is half of a good many dresses or suits, in the usual wardrobe. And it's one of the easiest come-by and most satisfactory accessories a woman can buy.

There is nothing quite so feminine or quite so smart as a crisp, fresh blouse. It can go anywhere, look in place, and in to the bargain make you look as though you just stepped out of a band-box.

Uneven inserts of lace trim Lady Esquire's cameo pink blouse. Tucking at either side of the lace adds the detailed look.

Blouses are one of those mischievous little pals that tuck neatly away in the corner of your suit case when you are traveling and after a quick swish with the iron perk up an entire outfit.

Today you can choose a blouse from dozens of designs and materials. The more popular at the moment are light and cool nylons.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Teenagers Want Popularity;
Should Follow This Advice

During the teenage years it is terribly important to young persons to be liked, to be popular, to get along well with those they know. This is important to every human being, but at this time it seems to have special significance.

Because you want so much to be popular you are likely to forget the things which will make you so and do things which will have the opposite effect. Your wish to be noticed, to be liked, may make you try to be the centre of the stage by being too loud, by interrupting others or ridiculing their ideas, by not listening with real interest to what they have to say, by being rude and thoughtless.

Nothing will make you so popular as being natural, as being thoughtful of others and having a sense of humor. It is also a help to become good at some one sport such as dancing or tennis or ping-pong or badminton or swimming.

If you are a person who can be depended on, one who can keep confidences, never repeating the things others tell you in confidence, you will find yourself with lots of friends who turn to you naturally.

The girl who is beginning to date is eager to be popular with the opposite sex. The characteristics mentioned above are extremely attractive to young men. There are also other things you might remember.

Young men like to be the one to do the telephoning. Do not call them unless you need to do so for some special reason. They also like for you to be feminine.

Institute Realizes $125 At Garden Fete

Esquimalt Women's Institute realized a sum of $125 at a recent garden party, that was officially opened by Mrs. A. E. Hendy.

The garden fete was convened by Mrs. A. McVie. Stall conveners were Mesdames J. Bradley, F. Strawson, W. Petrie, A. Clough, F. Potts, R. McVie. Mrs. J. Drummond was in charge of tea arrangements.

Mrs. G. R. Jennings, convener of the hand-made rug, reported a sum of $43.55 realized.

and wait for them to open doors and pull your chair out for you.

They will greatly appreciate it if you will be thoughtful of them in matters of money. Most young men have only a small amount of money to spend on their dates.

Do not discuss other dates you have had.

Express your sincere appreciation for the pleasant evening when you say goodnight.

Dress appropriately for the occasion so that your date will not feel conspicuous.

Do not talk about other girls unless you say something nice.

The conversation responsibility seems to fall more often on the girl than the boy. Try to make it interesting. Before your date arrives remember some of the things he is interested in and spend some of the evening talking about those rather than your interests.

Follow these rules and you will find your calendar full.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Popularity," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58, to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Spacious rooms were decorated with arrangements of summer flowers and bowls of red roses. In the garden strings of colored lights were used, assisting the hosts in serving were Mr. and Mrs. Timberlake, Mesdames D. Fanning, L. Hays, D. Jenkins, R. West and F. Penrose. Toast to the bride, the former Miss Shirley Wilson, was proposed by Lt.-Col. D. Crofton. Reception was followed by a beach party, at which Irl Bradley played the guitar and community singing was enjoyed.

Grace Halstrom-Ernest Hume Wed In Metropolitan Church

At a double-ring ceremony in Metropolitan United Church recently, Vera Grace Halstrom, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Halstrom, Obed Avenue, was united in marriage with Ernest Marshall Hume, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hume, Sussex Street.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse officiated. H. W. Spence sang "Because" and Mr. Holloway played organ music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white strapless gown with bodice of chantilly lace, complemented with matching lace jacket styled with Peter Pan collar and illy-point sleeves. Gown was high-lighted by a tiered bouffant skirt. She carried a white prayer book topped with mauve orchid tied with streamers knotted with sweet peas.

Best man was Ray Scofield, and ushers were Ray Bennet and G. Weatherall.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table at the reception held in Hampton Hall. Toast to bride was proposed by W. Crawford and telegrams were read from Cranbrook and Lethbridge, Alta.

For her honeymoon up-island the bride wore a pale blue nylon dress with blue gabardine coat, navy accessories and orchid corsage bouquet.

Former Victorian Here On Holiday

"Coming out here to laze and do nothing is wonderful!" says vivacious, former professional ice skater, Mrs. P. R. L. Charles, who arrived by plane this week from Toronto, with her husband, young son Bobby and six-year-old daughter Jill.

It is her first visit to the city since 1946. Mrs. Charles, well known in Victoria as in the eastern city for her prowess as a skater, has been a member of the Toronto Skating Club since her reinstatement as an amateur.

Prior to that she skated as a professional for two years, taught in St. Paul, Minn., and appeared in two Toronto carnivals, in which Barbara Ann Scott was the star.

When she was in her teens, Mrs. Charles recalls she attended class with the world-famed skater and competed against her many times.

Members of I.O.D.E. chapters in the city will gather at headquarters to hear Mrs. Peilant, the meeting commencing at 8.

Miss Christine MacNab, educational secretary, reported the golden jubilee scholarship would be given again in 1952 to a student attending Victoria College; Mrs. L. A. Lucas reported the Municipal standard and three primary standards were carried at "I Am A Canadian Day" ceremonies. Mrs. C. L. Bishop presided.

Church Tea

A sum of $68 was realized for funds of the United Church at a tea held in the Vesuvius Bay home of Miss E. Smith, on Salt Spring Island.

Summer flowers were used to decorate rooms and tea tables were centred with small bowls of roses. Mrs. J. Johnston and Mrs. R. J. Clarke presided at the urns and servitors were Mesdames J. B. Foubister, A. M. Brown, E. Ashlie, W. Byers, C. Mount and A. Nobbs.

A stall of home-cooking was in charge of Mrs. L. Parham and Miss M. Lees and one of candy in charge of Mrs. H. McGilland and Miss J. Tomlinson.

Little Jill has inherited her mother's love of skating.

"On many occasions Jill went to carnival rehearsals with me," says the Ontario visitor, "and she has shown a keen interest. She will be ready for her first lessons some time next year."

Mrs. Charles, who plans to stay in Victoria for the summer, so far has spent most of her days at the beaches, with her children. "It's grand to be so close to a beach. In Toronto we have to travel for miles to the water," she says.

A golden sunbathe, acquired in the short time she has been here speaks eloquently of her visits to the seashore.

Navy Band At Esquimalt Chapter's Garden Party

A note of glamor and gaiety was added to the annual garden party of Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., yesterday afternoon with presence of the navy band. The affair, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. R. Steick, Old Esquimalt Road, was opened by honorary regent Mrs. W. B. Creery, wife of Rear Admiral Creery, R.C.N., commanding officer, Pacific Coast.

Among other special guests were Mrs. J. L. Ford, Reeve and Mrs. A. I. Thomas, and Miss Velda Wille.

Mrs. W. C. Nichol presided at the tea table. Co-conveners of the successful event, which realized over $300, were Mrs. J. Bryant, and Mrs. J. Corry.

Other conveners were Mesdames A. A. Warder and F. Bonner, gate receipts; Mrs. Warren Smith, tea convener, assisted by Mesdames T. S. Floyd, G. P. Clarke, M. T. Carson, J. A.

Happy Gang Celebrates 14 Years Broadcasting

The Happy Gang story is one which has made entertainment history in Canada. It is the story of a group of highly talented Canadian entertainers, whose happy, friendly style of entertainment—so full of human and genuine good humor—made the Happy Gang a household word in Canada, and somewhat of an international institution.

It takes time to become an institution, and the Happy Gang has set something of a record in the years it has been broadcasting; yet it hardly looks a day older than when it first began. The recipe for this long and happy life appears to be its balanced blend of the very latest hits with the finest classical music, its original brand of novelty songs, impromptu horsplay, a dash of sincere sentiment, and liberal quantities of ripe corn—all of these served up with a great abundance of good humor and energy. It all began in June of 1937, when a young CBC studio pianist—Bert Pearl—was assigned to round up a few other versatile musicians, to do a half-hour variety program designed to brighten up the daytime broadcast schedule. That's how—on a warm day in June, 1937, the Happy Gang was born. The infant weighed four fellows and a girl. The newborn's first gurgling sounds were broadcast, on one local station in Toronto and, as the youngsters' lungs developed, it gained weight to its present size of ten men and the same girl—with a coast-to-coast network carrying its catchy music, songs, fun and laughter to more than a million Canadians and countless Americans who tune in each day to hear their familiar greeting.

Tour will reach Victoria this Friday and play at Memorial Arena at 8:30. Sponsored by Y's Men's Club of Victoria—proceeds going toward "Y" Boys' Camp.

Happy Gang concert is another celebration of the Y.N.C.A. centennial year.

Florence Spencer Married In Recent Nanaimo Ceremony

St. Paul's Anglican Church, Nanaimo, was the scene of the marriage of Florence Marion Spencer, R.N., and John Stanley Johnston.

Canon Noel heard the marriage vows of the young couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Spencer, Nanaimo, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston, Nanaimo.

During the signing of the register Joe Almond, Victoria, sang "Oh, Perfect Love."

White organza embossed with lily of the valley over satin created a lovely wedding gown. The yoke of nylon net was trimmed with lace and pearls and the hemline of the dress was caught up with satin ribbon to reveal ruffles of lace. A finger-tip veil held by a tiara of seed pearls enhanced the gown. The bride's bouquet was pink roses and white swansonia.

Mr. Spencer gave his daughter in marriage.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Ray Neil.

chose mauve nylon net with matching Dutch-hat wreathed with imitation heather. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds, carnations and ester reeds.

Miss Audrey Spencer, sister of the bride, and Miss Nettie Millar, Victoria, bridesmaids, added to the bridal scene in their identical gowns of yellow net and satin. Their headresses were yellow Dutch hats also trimmed with heather. They carried bouquets of rosebuds, mauve carnations and ester reeds.

Flower girl, little Sandra Campbell, was dressed in mauve nylon net. She wore a headress of yellow swansonia and carried a bouquet of summer blooms.

Best man was Albert Johnston, Montreal, brother of the groom, and ushers were Alfred Spencer, Jr., and Arthur Leask.

At the reception held at the Plaza Hotel, the bride's table, covered in pink satin, was centred with a three-tier wedding cake encircled in tulle. The newlyweds received best wishes from Ottawa from the groom's brother and sister-in-law. H. Hollister proposed the toast.

Mrs. Johnston wore a grey worsted suit with red accessories for the honeymoon motor trip through the Okanagan Valley. With her ensemble she carried a white shortie coat.

BUMPER TOURIST SEASON

Motel, Auto Court Proprietors Here Hoping For A Record July

More money, more people and fine weather point to a bumper tourist season for Victoria motel and auto court owners this year.

British General Says He's Chief Of Clan MacMillan

EDINBURGH, Scotland (Reuters)—Big news for all MacMillans—the clan has a new chieftain after limping along for more than 150 years without one.

He is a kilted Scottish soldier, Lt.-Gen. Sir Gordon H. A. MacMillan of MacMillan, the commander of the 51st Highland Division during the Second World War, and was the last British commander in Palestine.

His claim to the hereditary chieftainship of the Clan MacMillan was recognized by the appropriate authority, the Lord Lyon King of Arms, Sir Thomas Innes of Learney.

The chieftaincy has been dormant since the late 1700's. But the Lord Lyon recognized a document made in 1942 proving that an ancestor of the general's, Duncan MacMillan of Dunmore, was a direct descendant of the early chieftains, the family of MacMillan of Knapdale.

A Daily Times survey today showed.

The tourist stream has become a traffic flow several weeks ahead of the usual schedule and auto court owners are ready for a record July onslaught.

In Cadillacs and jalopies, they are coming from New York, Hawaii and points in between to enjoy relaxation Victoria style, buy clothes and antiques and generally "do all the things tourists do."

A check of the auto courts and motels reveals that there were fewer tourists last year, fewer inquiries and decidedly less money. They shopped around for accommodation.

Not so this year, according to W. G. Curtis, manager of Craigflower Auto Court.

'MORE MONEY AROUND'

"There seems to be more money around and there is little quibbling about rates."

Many American tourists who last year requested the exchange on their money, this year don't bother, said Rick Hobbs of San Sebastian Auto Court.

In fact, motel owners find their American guests are surprised when they are given the 5 per cent discount.

Fine weather in their own state is believed to have led many Oregonians to plan earlier trips to Victoria than usual.

Enjoying a brief stay at the Windsor Motor Court after a trip up the west coast aboard the Macquinn are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Middleton and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hamilton, all of Portland.

"We find Victoria people so friendly and hospitable," said Mr.

Hamilton, who admired the city's marine view.

Fog, a storm and a 14-hour delay did not spoil the west coast trip for the group. In fact it provided good copy for Mrs. Hamilton, who writes special articles for the Portland Oregonian under the by-line of Eloise Hamilton.

"I think we've done everything a tourist ought to do," she laughed of the shopping and motoring expeditions in and around Victoria.

Indianapolis is situated at the exact geographical centre of the state of Indiana.

U.S. Oil Firms Planning Replacement Of Iran Oil

Government Approves Draft By 16 Companies To Take Up Part Of Slack If Flow Shut Off

By JOHN SCALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—American oil companies are drafting emergency plans to rush oil to western Europe if Iran's refineries and fields are shut down in the bitter controversy over nationalization.

An informed American official said today the plan now being worked out by 16 companies—with United States government approval—is "nearly ready to go."

This official, who asked not to be identified by name, told a reporter he doubted the American overseas firms could completely fill the gap which would result if the Iranian flow stopped. But they could meet "a good share of this demand."

Iran's vast oil fields and the huge Abadan refinery produce

700,000 barrels of oil daily, most of which goes to Britain and Western Europe.

Whatever oil American firms could rush to Western Europe presumably would come from Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Venezuela. No oil would be shipped from the United States, it was said.

Acheson criticized the Iranian government for fostering an attitude of "threat and fear" which he said was causing British technicians working for the Anglo-Iranian oil company to leave.

BIG DIVIDEND ON IRAN OIL

LONDON (AP)—The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, whose properties in Iran are being seized under a new Iranian nationalization law, declared a dividend of 25 per cent today. This brings dividends for the company's fiscal year to 30 per cent, the same as in the preceding 12 months.

Three Killed In Ontario Car Crash

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two men and a woman were killed and a third man critically injured early today in a highway accident near here.

Dead are Everett H. Dubois, 22, of Dearborn, Mich., Arthur Paul Pfaff, 25, Trenton, Mich., and an unidentified woman. John Weidron, 22, of Detroit, was given little chance of surviving his injuries.

LAST JAP ROUND-UP

Tug Sails To Relieve 18 Holdouts On Island

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The U.S. Navy has selected a sea-going tug to accept what it hopes is the final surrender of Japanese forces in the Pacific—six years after the end of the war.

The tug Cocopa will go Saturday to remote Anatahan Island in the Marianas to pick up 18 Japanese holdouts.

At least the navy hopes all 18 will come along peacefully to be repatriated. A navy plane which flew over the island Tuesday saw eight or nine Japanese on the beach waving white flags.

A Japanese petty officer who surrendered two weeks ago said the men were well armed and that some of them threatened to kill anyone who tried to give himself up. The leaders profess to believe the war is still on.

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Thirteen French troops were killed and 11 injured Wednesday in the crash of a military transport plane near the U.S. naval base at Port Lyautey. The plane was en route from Toulon, France, to Dakar, French West Africa.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

A quiet, it is very clear, to nothing else should hear—Old Mother Nature.

Prickly Porky the Porcupine had had a sudden and wholly unexpected bath. He didn't like it. No, sir, he didn't like it at all. He didn't hesitate to say so. He had been comfortably dozing in the top of a tall tree when without any warning at all it toppled over into the pond of Paddy the Beaver and he had been wet to the skin.

At first Prickly Porky hadn't known what to make of it. That tree hadn't been blown over, for there was no wind. But after he had pulled himself up on the branches and climbed along the trunk toward shore his usually dull wits guessed the real reason for the falling of that tree. He guessed that Paddy the Beaver had cut that tree down. It was a good guess. Paddy had cut down that big tree intending to trim the branches off and cut the trunk into short logs to add to the food pile out in the water. Chattering, whining, scolding, Prickly Porky made his way along the trunk of the tree to the shore. There, just as he expected, he found Paddy the Beaver. Mrs. Paddy was there also. Prickly Porky was a sight to see. The thousand little spears in his coat were standing on end. They pointed in all directions. They were as sharp as needles.

ARGUMENT STARTS

"You cut down my tree," cried Porky.

"No such thing," retorted Paddy the Beaver.

"You did so," retorted Prickly Porky. He rattled all his spears. "No such thing! This is our tree," spoke up Mrs. Paddy.

"It may be yours now because it is of no use to me now it is down and half in the water, but it was mine when it was standing. You had no right to cut it," Prickly Porky made a sudden little rush at Mrs. Paddy and the little spears standing on end rattled more than ever.

"It was our tree before you ever saw it," declared Paddy, and his voice was really sharp. "We had been saving that tree for a long time. Just because it was standing there didn't make it your tree."

MANY SPECTATORS

Such an unpleasant scene as that was! A quarrel is always an unpleasant scene. The queer thing is that the worse the quarrel and the more unpleasant sight it is, the more people rush to see and to listen to the ugly and unpleasant things being said. It was so now. Lightfoot the Deer was looking on. So was Buster Bear. There were others.

"Where is this . . . this port-manteau of yours, Caroline?"

"I'll get it for you. I'm only taking the one piece of baggage. Mr. Duke has most of what we shall need."

Amelia watched her sister cross the room and take from her wardrobe the brown leather bag. She talked as if it were the most natural thing in the world that she was planning.

Amelia made a last effort. "Caroline, shouldn't — shouldn't Papa know about all this?"

"Papa's too busy. When you come to think of it, Papa's always been too busy. Too busy to live with us; too busy to be one of us."

"Never too busy to work for us, Caroline. Never too busy to give us all the things we've needed . . . to help us, in his own quiet way."

"Zeke will be coming up any minute now."

It was useless to talk. Caroline would go on being Caroline — stubborn, determined, selfish. Right through, very probably, to the very end. And there would, in many places, Amelia seemed suddenly to see a wearying, sickening vista of them. And in a flash of frightening conviction she knew that Caroline would always be alone, no matter how many men there were.

"Amelia, I heard you tell Papa you'd like to say goodbye to Jervis. If they find him 'not guilty,' he'll be released today. And I'd like to see him too — also to say goodbye. He wouldn't know that it was goodbye, of course — until I've gone."

Amelia closed her eyes, seeing suddenly the helplessness of her stepmother, the grief of her father, the trouble there was sure to be with Meg and Dugald. For a wild moment she even wondered whether she should give up her mission and remain. But that would all be so out of proportion. So achingly heart-breaking out of proportion. Last week Mr. Cridge had read to her, when he gave her the news of her acceptance for this voyage — "There is no man that hath left house, nor father, nor mother, for my sake, and the gospel's, but he shall receive an hundredfold . . . and in the world to come, eternal life."

Thank God Papa would still be here! They would all need him so much now . . . her mother, the twins, even Zeke and the Kanaka boys.

"Look, Amelia. He bought me a new black bonnet to wear with my dress. You're the first to see it!"

Calmly, leisurely, just as if today were an ordinary day, and her plans for it as simple as usual, Caroline tried on her new bonnet.

As the Termagant lay at anchor in the harbor, Jervis could feel the slow swell of the sea again. He was glad, despite the pleas of the Victoria jail authorities, that the Navy had insisted upon holding the court martial aboard the flagship.

It was fitting that he should be here. He was, through and through, a sailor, and even here, as he sat alone in Rob Twining's small cabin, awaiting the prisoner's escort that would take him back into the wardroom to hear the verdict; even here he felt better than he had done in the stone walls of the city jail.

It was possible that this might be among the last of his days as an officer in Her Majesty's Navy. The original charge of murder had, owing to insufficient evidence, long ago been dropped by the civil courts. Both of the other court-martial charges, however, could result — and only too easily — in him being cashiered or dismissed from the navy. An additional charge, that of breaking arrest while a prisoner in the city

POWER MEANS PROGRESS

.....WHATSHAN provides the Power!

In peace or war, the productive capacity of a nation is dependent upon the power it converts.

In peace, productive capacity measures the prosperity of a people.

Whatshan hydro development brings to the wide area it serves the power necessary for peacetime prosperity and security.

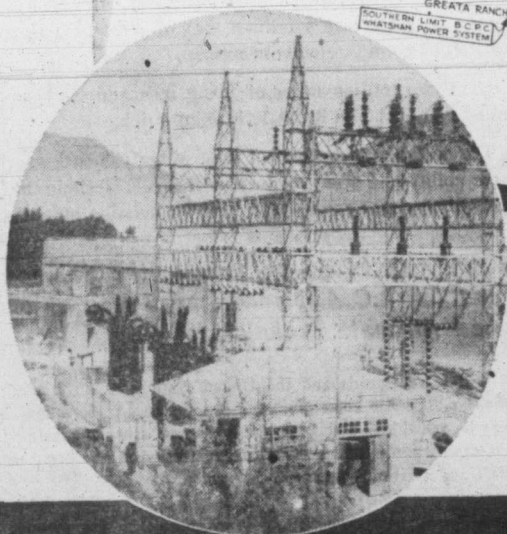

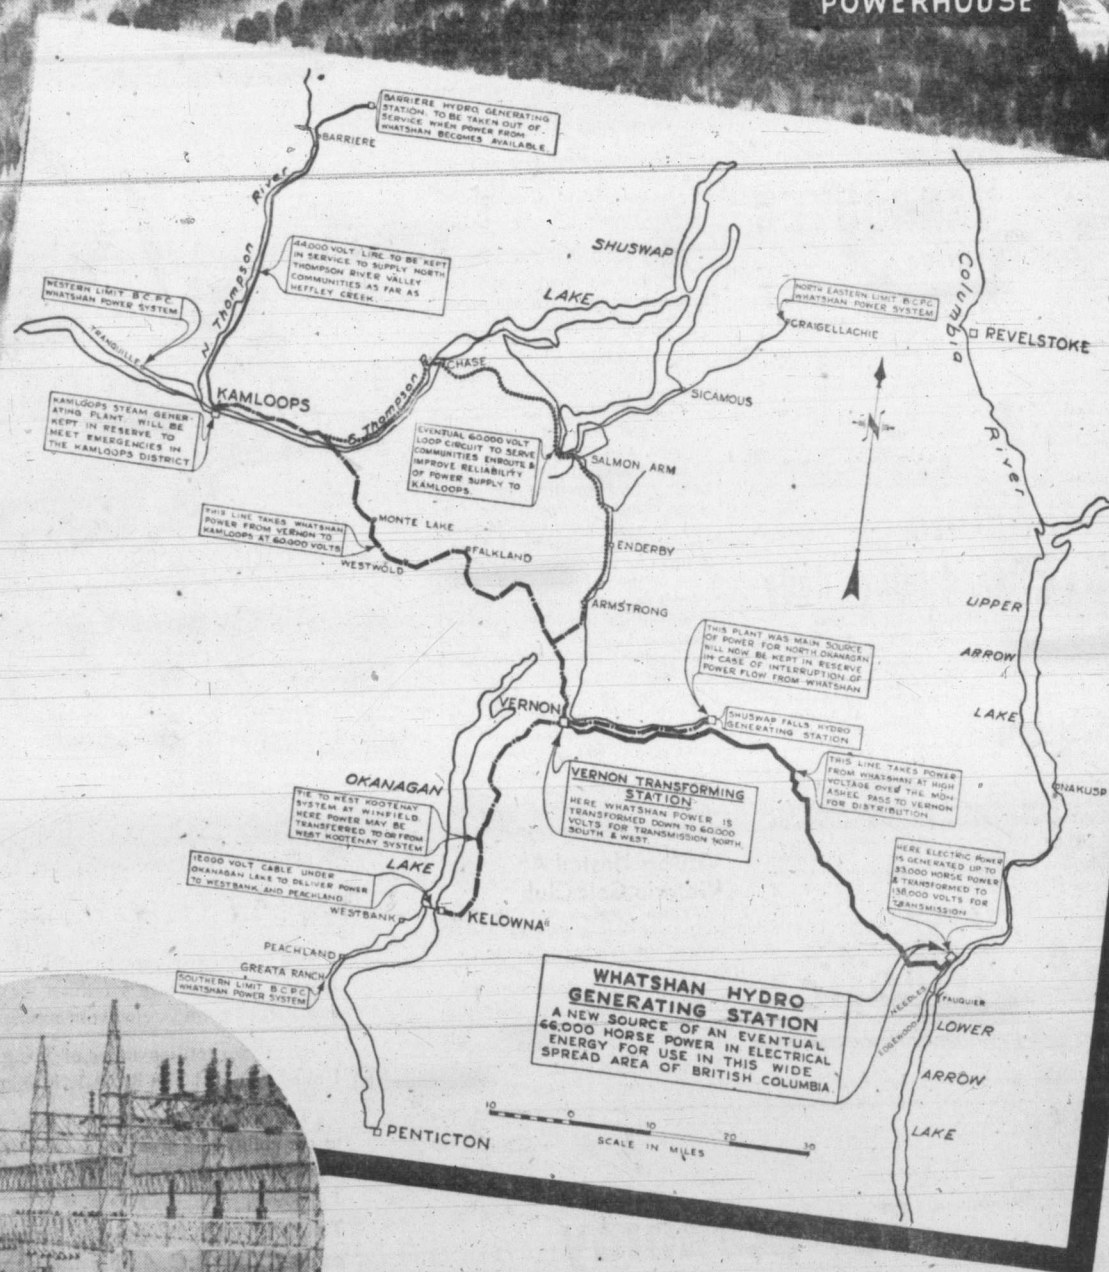

British Columbia Power Commission's Whatshan project has an initial generating capacity of 33,000 horsepower, and can be expanded readily to its 66,000 horsepower potential.

This power creates new opportunities for agricultural development and establishment of industries in the more than twenty growing communities to which it will be delivered initially. It means new comforts and conveniences for the people. It means progress.

It is the proven experience of all nations that where power is converted to industrial uses, there follows a better standard of living and a sounder economy. The greater the utilization of power in the every-day work of a people, the higher is their productive capacity and the larger their earnings. British Columbia Power Commission was created for the single purpose of increasing availability and supply of power to the people, at cost. It is fulfilling this purpose in developing Whatshan and constructing its transmission system. This development like all the others the Commission has undertaken is financed out of its own revenue and not by the general taxpayer.

Today Whatshan power is being delivered to Vernon, Kamloops, Lumby, Oyama, Winfield, Okanagan Centre, Okanagan Landing, Armstrong, Enderby, Salmon Arm, Sicamous, Malakwa, Sorrento, Craigellachie, Notch Hill, Falkland, Westworld, Monte Lake, Chase, North Kamloops and Tranquille. Before long it will be delivered to Needles, Edgewood, Inonocklin Valley and Fauquier.

British Columbia Power Commission takes this opportunity to congratulate engineers, suppliers, contractors, and all workers who contributed to the completion of the Whatshan hydro electric project . . . another monument to progress.

Whatshan powerhouse, and switching station, on Lower Arrow Lake, generating power for 14,000 customers.

CORRECTION
So many people called about the mill fire apparently a radio announcement (later corrected) mentioned our name. Unfortunately the name is very similar to the company in no way connected and is under entirely different ownership. The resemblance in name is purely a coincidence. However, it was mighty nice to get all those calls of help and we sincerely thank you one and all.

PRE-INVENTORY CASH SPECIALS
A genuine sale of items which must be moved before stocktaking.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

Certain hands are types that every experienced player should recognize at once. Today's hand, for example, should be a matter of routine to a good bridge player.

South wins the first heart trick and returns the queen of diamonds at once. This gives the opponents a choice of defenses—both equally bad.

If the defenders return trumps, declarer gets a free finesse and can probably (with normal distribution) draw the trumps and then develop the diamonds. Normally, the hand should then lose two diamond tricks but nothing else.

If the defenders fail to return trumps, South is ready to cross-ruff. For example, suppose West takes the ace of diamonds and returns a heart. Dummy wins with the king of hearts and an attempt is made to cash the king of diamonds.

This attempt fails when East ruffs with a low trump. South calmly over-ruffs and cashes the ace of clubs to discard dummy's last heart. Then South ruffs a heart in dummy.

Now dummy leads another diamond, and South ruffs, while East discards a club. South now ruffs a club in dummy with the eight of spades and returns to his hand by ruffing a diamond for the third time. East discards his last club on this trick.

South leads another club, but must make sure to ruff with dummy's ace. East, left with only trumps, must vainly under-ruff. Then South's king of spades is good for his tenth trick.

It is interesting to note that South would lose his contract if he tried to ruff with the jack of spades. East would over-ruff with the queen and would return a trump, felling the ace and king of trumps on the same trick.

German Army Plan Too Costly

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three have agreed that German suggestions for raising an army, navy and air force are unworkable because they call for more armor, aircraft and ships than the Atlantic allies could supply under their present rearmament program, diplomats said Wednesday. West Germany suggested the Allies allow her an army of 150,000 to 200,000, a swift, mobile defensive navy and a hard-hitting tactical air force with about 2,000 light bombers.
